JURY AT HULL GAVE VERDICT

English Fishermen Killed by the Russians Without Provocation.

NO TORPEDOES SEEN

At Request of Government, Charge of Willful Murder Was Withheld.

THIS FOR COMMISSION'S SAKE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

HULL, ENGLAND, Nov. 2.—"That George Henry Smith and William Leggett were, at about 12:30 a. m., on October 22, while out fishing with trawls aboard the British steam trawler Crane, with board of trade marks exhibited and regulation lights burning, killed by shots fired without warning or provocation from certain Russian war vessels, at a distance about a quarter of a mile."

This is the text of the verdict at the coroner's inquest on the fishermen victims of the North sea tragedy. At the request of the British government, represented by the earl of Dysart, solicitor of the treasury, this conservative award was rendered by the first court of inquiry preceding the sessions of the international tribunal. The government asked the jury not to find a verdict of wilful murder or manslaughter because delicate negotiations are going on, which should not be made more difficult, and they ought not to let anyone think they had prejudiced the case before having heard both sides."

In consequence the jury simply set forth the facts proved by the evidence of physicians, experts on explosives, and by the trawlers themselves. To the verdict the jury added the following rider:

"On this occasion, probably the most momentous in the annals of the British empire, the jury would record their appreciation of the efforts made by the governments interested to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion of the matter which, we feel, has no parallel in the history of the world."

St. George's hall, a large auditorium which had been specially fitted up for the occasion, was inadequate to accommodate the crowds that wished to listen to the evidence. The British government, the board of trade, the owners of the Gamecock fleet, and the relatives of the deceased and wounded fishermen were represented by counsel. The Russian government did not participate.

Medical experts proved the death of Smith and Leggett was the result of shell and machine gun wounds. An expert identified fragments of shells by private marks, which, he said, were undoubtedly Russian. The stories of captains and mates of the trawlers were given.

These latter related that, while they were engaged in their regular work, the ships of the Baltic fleet in two squadrons emerged suddenly from the haze and, throwing the glare of their searchlights on the Gamecock fleet, without warning, and disregarding flare green lights—the fisherman's signal—and though within actual speaking distance of one vessel, commenced a cannonade, which the fishermen, at first not realizing the danger, enjoyed, thinking it was a sham fight. The firing lasted half an hour.

To each of these witnesses was put the vital question regarding the presence of a foreign vessel or torpedo boat. Each, with equal positiveness, denied that at any time preceding or during the firing was any Japanese, British or any foreign vessel, except the Russians, seen by them or the accompanying fishing fleet. It was also stated there were no Japanese among the crews, and that none of the trawlers carried arms of any description. One of the skippers, replying to a question by the coroner, said that during the five weeks he was in the North sea, he had not seen any warships until that night. This closed the evidence.

ROJESTVENSKY GIVEN PROMOTION BY CZAR

Is Raised to Rank of Vice Admiral and Emperor's Aide-de-Camp.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—Russia has not the slightest intention of humiliating her fleet to suit England. Rojestvensky has been promoted to the rank of vice admiral and aid-de-camp to the emperor, while the Grand Duke Alexis, as grand admiral of the fleet, has issued an order of the day thanking the officers and crews of the St. Petersburg and Smolensk for their brilliant services.

Prof. Martens says the Dogger bank inquiry cannot fail to take a long time, and that the British idea of rushing the matter through in a few days is out of the question.

It is authoritatively announced that the basis for the British-Russian agreement to submit the North sea incident to a commission insures an amicable settlement without a sequel. The understanding is complete.

There is a strong intimation that Great Britain will invite Admiral Dewey to be one of the commissioners.

PADDLE IS ABOLISHED IN M'KEESPORT SCHOOLS

The committee on discipline and morals of the board of school directors of McKeesport last night adopted a resolution to abolish the use of the "paddle." The paddle is about three feet long and is used in place of a rattan to punish unruly pupils. Richard Farmer, father of John Farmer, a pupil, charged Prof. Foster with cruelly beating his son. The board heard the testimony and reserved their decision until next Monday night.

PRESIDENT HAD DANGEROUS FALL

LAY UNCONSCIOUS IN ROAD

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.

The fact became public today that President Roosevelt had a narrow escape from death a week ago last Sunday. He was riding a mile or two out from Washington and was going at a hard gallop when his horse stumbled and threw him. The president fell on his head and was rendered unconscious for a time. How long he lay there is not known, for he was unaccompanied, having left his orderly at a point some distance away.

When he regained consciousness he found his horse standing near and he tried to remount, but was too weak to get into the saddle. There was a large bruise on his head and a slight scalp wound over his right ear where he had struck a small stone in his fall. Finally he recovered sufficiently to mount and ride to the place where his orderly awaited him.

Returning to the White House, he immediately retired and sent for a doctor to dress his wound. The physician found the president was not seriously injured, as he had only suffered from slight bruises and the shock, with the exception of the cut over his ear, which, while it bled considerably, was not at all serious.

The president kept close within doors for a few days and denied himself to all but a few callers. The utmost secrecy was observed concerning the matter and it was only by the merest accident that the story of the president's experience became public today.

The fall was one such as probably every cross-country rider has had at some time during his pursuit of the sport and such as any rider is liable to who delights in occasional spurts of hard riding. President Roosevelt himself did not attach great importance to it, although he was naturally thankful that it did not result more seriously. He kept it from the public because he feared it would be exaggerated by publication.

New York Mason Makes an Affidavit Quoting Remark of Judge Parker.

STATEMENT A VOLUNTARY ONE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.

The Republican state committee today published an affidavit by Peter H. Eckert, a mason of Kingston, N. Y., who swears he has known Judge Parker by sight for upward of 20 years. Eckert says:

"When Judge Parker bought the property at Esopus I heard that he was to make some repairs and to do some mason work on the house. My son, William S. Eckert, said to me: 'You go up and see Judge Parker; I understand he is going to have some mason work done on his farm at Esopus.'

"I went immediately to see Mr. Parker and met him half a block from his residence, on the sidewalk of Albany avenue, between the residence now of John C. Broadhead and S. B. Sharp, in the city of Kingston. I asked Mr. Parker about the work and he said: 'I am going to have some done.' He asked me the wages, and I told him $2.50 a day. He said: 'A dollar and a half a day is enough for any mechanic.' I said: 'Good morning, Mr. Parker,' and left him.

"I have been a life-long Democrat and have voted for every Democratic candidate for president since I have been of age. I voluntarily make this statement to show that I believe Judge Parker is not a proper man to protect the interests of the laboring man."

Plehve's Successor in Poor Health.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—It is announced that the health of Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky, the minister of the interior, which in recent years has not been robust, has been seriously impaired by overwork in connection with his new office. His official receptions have been discontinued, and possibly he will be obliged to take a rest at some European resort.

FELL TO DEATH IN MINE DEPTHS

Ten Workmen Are Victims of a Frightful Accident at Nanticoke Colliery.

SAFETY LEVERS FAILED THEM

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., Nov. 2.—One of the most appalling mine accidents in the history of the Wyoming valley for many years past occurred at No. 1 Auchincloss shaft, operated by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Coal Company at Nanticoke, at an early hour this morning, by which 10 men were hurled to instant death and three seriously injured.

THE DEAD.

WILLIAM ASHTON, JR.
JOHN IGNOTOWITZ.
JOHN TISAREK.
JOSEPH KASSIAN.
JOHN KONON.
FRANK SYTAKOWISKI.
JOSEPH NOVICK.
BOLISH OPIORSKI.
JOHN KEMPER.
JOSEPH GOSSHEN.

The injured are John Knochadale, Harold Vermot and David Houston, bruised and cut about the body by flying wreckage while standing at the mouth of the shaft ready to descend.

The signal had been given to Engineer Fine, who began lowering the men into the shaft. The carriage had gone but a few feet when the engineer lost control of his engines, owing to the reverse lever failing to work, and the carriage with its load of human souls, 10 in all, was dashed beyond the Ross vein, landing near 1,100 feet below the surface, and from there they were precipitated 300 feet further into a sump.

Had they not been killed outright they would without doubt have been drowned in the sump, which is fully 50 feet deep with water.

Up to 8 o'clock tonight no human aid could reach them, and every man on the ill-fated carriage has been given up by the officials as lost. The victims, who were miners, laborers and company hands, all resided in Nanticoke, the most of whom leave families, many of whom are in need.

Intense excitement continues to prevail about the mouth of the shaft tonight. Women and children are running about crying and bemoaning for those who are at the bottom. There are fully 75 miners and laborers in the mine dragging the sump for the bodies and it may require two or three days before any of the dead can be recovered.

HOT IRONS ARE APPLIED TO AGED VICTIM'S FEET

Masked Men Torture Recluse in Attempt to Compel Him to Hand Over His Money.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ERIE, PA., Nov. 2.—Frederick Klingben, aged 60 years, was abused by masked robbers last night. Klingben lives in a small house, alone, just south of this city and has always been supposed to possess a large sum of money. Early this morning, he says, he was awakened by five men, who, after trying the front door of his home and finding it securely locked, burst it in and entered. Klingben heard the noise, and getting out of bed, started downstairs to learn its cause.

Four of the men seized him and carried him back to his bedroom, placing him in bed. The fifth man then demanded his money. Klingben assured them he had nothing to give. One of the men then went downstairs, heated an iron bar and applied it to the feet of the old man. After ransacking the house the robbers left. Police officers have found no trace of the men. Klingben is unable to give any definite description of them.

DAVIS LOCKED IN WITH BILLS

Public Safety Committee Unable to Get Traction Ordinance.

FORCED TO ADJOURN

Found the City Clerk Bolted in His Private Office and Reading.

FIREMEN MAY GET VACATION

Unless public sentiment becomes more active and effective, there will be no relief from the traction evils complained of as long as the present administration is in power and controls councils. This was demonstrated yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the public safety committee of councils. The administration first tried to prevent a quorum of the committee, and when this move failed and the committee sent its clerk to bring back the two traction ordinances that had been transferred to the corporations committee, the clerk stayed in the city clerk's private office, under lock and key, until the committee adjourned.

The city clerk, E. W. Hassler, who changed the two traction bills from the safety to the corporations committee, contrary to the instruction of the president of select council, and who is also the clerk of the safety committee, absented himself from City hall all day yesterday, and the assistant clerk, H. B. Davis, acted as clerk of the committee.

After Davis had been sent to get the traction bills the committee waited about 10 minutes, and then one of the members went into the clerk's office, to find Davis there reading the council manual and not looking for the ordinances.

Clerk Locked in Room.

The member made another trip to the clerk's office and found the clerk had retired to the private office and the door was locked. Finally G. W. Hammer, one of the members of the committee, said he had an engagement with a dentist and could wait no longer, and his withdrawal broke up a quorum. The committee then adjourned. The members of the committee strolled into the city clerk's office and a few minutes later the door was unlocked from the outside and the clerk walked out with the ordinances in his hands.

Councilman William Brand had put his overcoat in the private office of the clerk and he hammered on the door for a couple of minutes before the door was unlocked. As the matter stands the traction ordinances, which are intended to prevent overcrowding of street cars, are in the corporations committee and are there to remain until the end of the present councils. Director Bigelow is master of the situation, and the corporations committee will not meet until he gives the word.

In the meantime members of select council say they do not mean to let the matter rest. Dr. H. B. Burns said yesterday:

"This thing is an outrage and I am in favor of starting an inquiry and to discipline the city clerk. The clerk ought to be severely censured for his act. I will certainly bring the matter up on the floor of councils."

Other members of select council gave expression in similar fashion.

Brand Demands Traction Bills.

The public safety committee was called to meet at 3 o'clock. Twelve members were required to make a quorum. Earlier in the day Director Bigelow was offering to wager there would not be a quorum of the committee. With the aid of the Republicans and anti-administration members of select council a quorum was made up at 3:30. After the transaction of all other business before the committee the acting clerk H. B. Davis, stated that the desk was clear. Brand asked where the two traction ordinances were that had been referred to the public safety committee. Davis said the ordinances were in the corporations committee.

"Who referred them to the corporations committee?" asked Brand.

"I presume select council did," said Davis.

"Oh!" ejaculated Brand; "then I suppose we will have to stand being buncoed."

Brand then asked Chairman Frederick if the ordinances had not been referred to the public safety committee.

"That is my understanding," said Frederick, "but I find that they have been changed to the corporations committee."

Wightman Stayed Away.

President Wightman came in for a share of Brand's caustic criticism. Wightman referred the bills to the safety committee in the hearing of members of select council and the press representatives, and yesterday and the day before had also told half a dozen reporters that he had referred the measures to the safety committee. Wightman had declared himself as indignant at the manner in which the ordinances had been juggled and he announced his intention of having them put back in the safety committee. He failed to do so, however, yesterday after he had an interview with Director Bigelow.

Bigelow said: "Wightman will change his mind," and so it proved. Wightman did not even attend the meeting of the safety committee, when he might have had the whole proceeding corrected.

For "changing his mind," as Director Bigelow said he would, Wightman was taken to task by Brand.

"If the president of select council has not the stamina to stand by his own action, the members of this committee ought to make a stand against such treatment, which is the rankest I have known since I have been in councils. Mr. Chairman, why is the city clerk not here today?"

"He went home sick," answered Assistant Clerk Davis.

"Mr. Chairman, I ask that you instruct the clerk to bring these ordinances be-

PARKER'S TALK IS SHAMEFUL

Fairbanks Says Candidate Utters Groundless Charges.

AN EYE ON TAGGART

SOME STRANGE BEDFELLOWS

Special Telegram From
Walter J. Christy, Staff Correspondent.

LA FAYETTE, IND., Nov. 2.—Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, while traveling today through one of the Democratic strongholds in Indiana, took occasion to call attention to Alton B. Parker's Madison Square garden speech, in which he attacked the honesty of President Roosevelt. Each time the criticism of the Democratic presidential candidate's speech elicited much applause from Mr. Fairbanks' audiences, and there were many Democrats among his auditors. Of the Parker attack the senator said in part:

"It is an obvious attempt to divert public attention from the great question with respect for which Democracy stands discredited before the American people. It is to be regretted that the honorable candidate for the presidency on the Democratic ticket makes the suggestion that the president and the chairman of the Republican national committee have prostituted their positions to aid in the collection of campaign funds.

Charge Utterly Groundless.

"It is incredible that a candidate for the high office of president of the United States should give utterance to a charge so utterly groundless. He does himself injustice, and he affronts the intelligence of the American people when he imputes to his opponent an act so unworthy and so absolutely unfounded. In the face of great national problems how utterly insignificant personalities become. We must not allow our minds to be diverted by them from a contemplation of the great fact that Democratic policies are paralyzing and that Democratic administration is destructive to our industrial development."

At Logansport this afternoon Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, joined Senator Fairbanks. The meeting was unexpected. The cabinet officer was pressed into service and made a strong protection speech in this city tonight. Secretary Shaw says he has refrained from making a statement for publication on the result of election. He shows no evidence, however, that he is in the least disturbed about the outcome of the vote next Tuesday.

Are Watching Taggart.

Senator Fairbanks today devoted a good deal of attention to warning the voters against over-confidence. He also made a strong appeal for the election of a Republican legislature. The legislative situation is daily causing the Republicans more concern. All day fresh evidence of Thomas Taggart's concern about the legislature has been secured. All sorts of deals are being made to secure support for assembly and senatorial candidates. In the Democratic belt traversed today it was found the Democrats are offering to vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks in return for Republican aid for legislative nominees.

Close watch is being kept on Taggart. He is expected to attempt all kinds of "skull duggery" in the closing days. Just what tricks he will use is the cause of merriment. It is the opinion of the Republican leaders that Sheehan, Gorman and Belmont have shipped Taggart back to Indiana with the understanding that they will take charge of the national campaign and he is to do the best he can in Hoosierdom. Inquiry today developed that Democratic leaders who have been called to Indianapolis were told to go home and raise all the money they can, and that between Friday and Tuesday the state committee will do the liberal thing.

Prohibitionists With Liquor Men.

The principal towns visited today were Walkerton, Plymouth, Rochester, Peru and Logansport. They are in the hands of the Democrats. The policy of the Democrats is not to spend money for individual votes except in the negro belt. Their efforts are being bent in the direction of the Republican election boards and precinct committees.

Odd as it may seem, the Prohibitionists and the liquor men of Indiana are working together in this campaign and their aid is of great benefit to the Democratic candidates for legislature. In this state the liquor traffic is regulated by a law known as the Nicholson act. It has a blanket remonstrance provision, which the liquor dealers say works a great hardship on them. A majority of the voters of a district can prevent a license being granted. If a man does not desire to sign a remonstrance he can give power of attorney to another to do so. The liquor men want the act repealed. The Prohibitionists also desire it wiped out on the ground that it furnishes an opportunity for blackmail. The Republican party is pledged to defend the act from repeal or amendment.

A Secret Organization.

In order to assist in the election of a legislature that will repeal the Nicholson law the liquor dealers have formed secret organizations in each of the 13 congressional districts. It is an oath-bound society. Each member is pledged to vote for men known to favor the repeal. This promise must be carried out regardless of the politics of the member. Each week every member receives a card bearing this reminder: "Don't forget your pledge when you go to the polls on election day."

So well were the plans of their organization perfected that the Republicans did not know of its existence until a short time ago. In many instances it has succeeded in making nominations of the legislative candidates. An Indianapolis newspaper man succeeded in getting the facts about the organization and the first knowledge the Republicans had of its existence was made known by his publication.

Since then the Republican leaders have been unable to learn what the league is doing. They have found that each member pays in $5 admission fee and a large weekly assessment. There is a complete organization in each congressional district and the campaign fund raised by the association is being disbursed by its officers. The brewers and distillers are also contributing.

Don't Care About Senator.

In nearly every instnce the Liquor Dealers' association is working with the Democrats. This puts a strong vote-getting power into the hands of Taggart. The league does not car who gets to the United States senate so long as the Nicholson act is repealed. Philip Heise, who organized the league in the state, is now in the employ of the Democratic national committee and is working under Taggart's direction.

The Prohibitionists have a legislative ticket in every county in the state and are making a special fight against the Republican candidates. As the legislative contest is so bitter, the secret of the liquor men is giving the Republicans much concern in the doubtful districts.

Tomorrow Senator Fairbanks will go into the southern end of the state. He received reports from the mining regions today which were encouraging. Taggart is attempting some interesting tricks in that region.

Democrats Always in Opposition.

There has been no great achievement in our last 50 years of history (and a great and splendid history we have written in that brief time) that has not been opposed violently and earnestly by the Democratic party. Is it a wiser political leader today than it has been during the 50 years that lie back of us? If so, how do you know it? What evidence is there of that fact? We should not entrust the control of the affairs of the government to the hands of the Democratic party simply because the Democratic party wants control. We like Democrats as such, but we like prosperity more. We may have confidence in the good intentions of Democratic leaders and but little confidence in their wisdom, and there is a pretty wide gap between good intentions and good judgment. We should follow a political party which will lead us safely into the future. We have not settled all the great questions which interest the American. We have settled many of them, and have settled them honorably and well. They lie back of us.

There are many questions of great interest which are to be solved and which will have a very important bearing upon our future welfare. It is important, therefore, to entrust the management of our national affairs to a party that has been able successfully to meet the great problems which are back of us, for it is liable to be better able to meet and discharge the questions which lie in our future pathway.

Shaw Tells Where Money Goes.

Secretary Shaw's address was largely devoted to an exposition of the benefits which he said would accrue to the producers of the country from a continuance of the policy of protection. He said:

Now, what do we do with this money? We spend it in many ways. We spent $10,-000,000 last year in the erection of public buildings in 100 cities and towns in 40 states. The $10,000,000 that went for public buildings went to labor and was, in turn, spent for food and clothing. We spent some millions for river and harbor improvements, some of which was wisely spent and some of which was thrown away. But it all went for labor, for rivers and harbors are dredged and improved under the supervision of the war department, and officers in the army get the same pay whether they are improving rivers and harbors or doing something else, or doing nothing. These laborers again spent it for food and clothing, and on it goes. We spent some millions on battleships and cruisers, but out of every million thus expended, $900,000 goes to labor in some form.

MASTER WORKMAN OF SALESPEOPLE DEPOSED

S. L. Coleman Impeached for Working Into the Hands of A. F. of L.

Retail Clerks.

There was an exciting time at the meeting of the Salespeople's assembly, Knights of Labor, last evening at 310 Fifth avenue. Simon Burns, general master workman, was present and startled the members by bringing charges against S. L. Coleman, master workman of the assembly, and ordered him deposed from office.

This action was the result of the American Federation of Labor making another fruitless effort to get the Knights of Labor assembly disbanded and the members to affiliate with a proposed local of the International Association of Retail Clerks.

About five months ago G. B. Squires, general organizer of the Retail Clerks, came to Pittsburgh with the intention of absorbing the Salespeople's assembly. He succeeded in geting some of the K. of L. interested in the move, and Coleman was one of them.

It was charged Coleman promised to use his efforts to turn over the K. of L. organization to the Retail Clerks, which is the A. F. of L. body. The general executive board of the K. of L. gave Coleman a hearing and found him guilty as charged. The decision of the board was kept secret until last night, when Mr. Burns read the verdict deposing Coleman and reprimanding two other members.

FOUGHT THE CONSTABLE.

He Wanted Three Men Who Were Playing Cards, and He Got Them.

Charles Dobrus, Alex Ninus and Charles Grabiosky were arrested in a house on South Twenty-seventh street last night by Constable Henry Cawley, who battled with the three men until he cowed and put handcuffs on them and took them to jail.

William Kusus charged the men with assault and battery, alleging they had beaten and abused a woman who keeps a boarding house in Tustin street, with whom the men boarded until yesterday.

Leaving the woman on the floor, they fled from the house, and only by accident Kusus, who also boards at the house, learned where they had gone. He made information against them before Alderman Kaltenhouse, and Constable Cawley took the injured woman along to point the men out. They were found in a cellar, playing cards.

RODGERS IS ASKED TO GIVE OPINION

Can City Compel Satisfactory Traction Service or Revoke Franchises

EARLY REPLY IS REQUESTED

City Solicitor Rodgers is asked to furnish common council immediately an opinion as to whether councils and the city authorities can proceed against the traction monopoly to compel it to give the public satisfactory service or if councils can revoke the franchises of the traction company. Mr. Rodgers has promised that the opinion and all the information at his command will be furnished as soon as it is asked for, and it is expected to be received by members of common council at the next meeting.

William Brand presented the following resolution at the meeting of common council last night and it was adopted by a unanimous vote:

Resolved, That the city solicitor be requested to furnish this councils, at his earliest opportunity, an opinion defining what power councils and the city authorities have over the traction franchises; whether councils and the mayor can compel satisfactory service and whether councils can revoke the franchises of the street car company for neglect of its duty in not serving the people.

This resolution strikes at the evils of which the public at large have been bitterly complaining. The city solicitor has stated that he will not give an opinion unless asked for officially, and the resolution of Brand gives him an opportunity of giving it. Councilmen who claim to know the personal opinion of the city soicitor declare that he will assure councils that they and the city authorities have ample power to either force the traction company to give the public satisfactory service or to revoke the franchises of the company.

The resolution calling upon the city soilicitor was not the only measure introduced in common council last night for the purpose of giving the public relief. Two ordinances were presented which are identical with the ordinances introduced in select council and referred to the public safety committee and then transferred by the clerk of that body to the corporations committee. These ordinances were introduced by A. R. Girdwood and William Brand. Care was taken by Brand that both measures should be referred to the public safety committee.

The ordinance directing the mayor and director of public safety to sell the three lots and the building occupied by engine company No. 1 and chemical company No. 1, at Liberty and Fourth avenues, to the Wabash railroad for $54,500, the price fixed by the railroad, was passed finally, although the Republicans had previously declared they would oppose the bill and ask for a public sale. Their excuse for reversing themselves last night was that the Wabash claimed that if the city did not sell at the price mentioned the Wabash would condemn the property, anyway, and they did not want to see some speculator come in and by competitive bidding force the Wabash to pay more than the property was really worth.

An ordinance was introduced for the opening of Dithridge street, between the Grant boulevard and Center avenue, and another measure to grade, pave and curb this street. Another bill to license junk dealers at $5 per year each was presented.

A bill of $822 of the McClure Lumber Company, for lumber furnished at the Roosevelt Fourth of July celebration in Schenley park in 1900, came up again and Brand opposed its passage because the bill had not been approved by the park committee, where he claimed it should have been passed upon. Upon his motion the bill was referred to the park committee.

Brand asked for the separate consideration of a number of other measures providing for additional employes in the department of public safety, but after Director Moore had explained these measures they went through by a unanimous vote.

Ordinances and resolutions for the transfers of money from one appropriation to another, aggregating $80,129.56, were passed.

DAVIS LOCKED IN WITH BILLS.

fore this committee," demanded Brand.

"The ordinances are in the corporations committee and the records of select council show that the ordinances were referred to the corporations committee," said Davis.

"Can we not have the records of the last meeting of select council on this point read to this committee?" inquired Brand.

"The minutes are in the hands of the printer and cannot be obtained just now," said the clerk."

"Mr. Chairman, I have just talked to several members of select council," said Brand, "and they tell me that the ordinances were referred to the public safety committee and not to the corporations committee. I have just as much faith in the veracity of these gentlemen as I have in the word of some others, and I move that the clerk be instructed to bring these ordinances before this committee, where they belong."

Chairman Frederick put the motion and it was carried. After some hesitation Clerk Davis left the room, but this was the last seen of him by the committee. He was afterward found locked in the city clerk's private office, as described before. John A. Long, one of Bigelow's superintendents, was watching the door.

The administration made a belated political move yesterday to regain the favor of the firemen. Because the administration refused them a vacation this summer and for other grievances, fully three-fourths of the firemen have been feeling very bitter toward the administration. Wanting their support in the coming struggle to control the Republican primaries, the administration yesterday made a move which is planned to win back the fire force of 500 men.

The ordinance granting each fireman a vacation of two weeks, with pay, which has been lying in the public safety committee since last spring, was taken up and passed with a few minor amendments attached and drafted into another paper for the purpose of creating the impression to the firemen that it was an entirely new ordinance. The ordinance, as revised, gives the director of public safety power to grant each fireman two weeks vacation with pay, the vacation period to begin June 1 and to extend to the last of November. The ordinance was reported to the general committee by a sub-committee consisting of William McKelvy, Andrew Pfannkuch and John Barry.

When it reached the general committee a peculiar clause was discovered in the bill which in effect practically annulled the right of a fireman to two weeks vacation. This clause stated that the director of public safety should grant a furlough, "not to exceed two weeks," to each fireman. Brand called attention to the fact that the three words, "not to exceed," gave the director of public safety authority to give firemen two weeks or only one week, or one day's vacation, if he saw fit.

Brand's attention had previously been called to this clause and he told the committee it might cause a disturbance in the fire bureau. He therefore made a motion to strike out the words "not to exceed" and make it obligatory upon the director to give every man a full two weeks' vacation. Otherwise, if any fireman should fall under the displeasure of the administration, he would be open to discipline by having his vacation reduced by the director.

Director Moore was present when the amendment was made and he assented, not being able to offer any argument in opposition. The ordinance does not take effect until next year.

The ordinance licensing massage parlors was approved by the committee after some amendments had been made and the committee also authorized the payment of a bill of $570 from Kerr & Fox for extra work at the Municipal hospital.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO ART WORKERS

Press View Last Night Evoked Praise for Paintings in New Carnegie Exhibition.

DISPLAY GREAT IN NUMBERS

Fifteen hundred people last night attended the press view of the paintings which constitute the tenth international exhibition at the Carnegie art galleries. Art lovers were conspicuous in the throng that filled the three chambers of the temporary building in Schenley park. Many local artists were there to feast their eyes upon the display of pictures, which is the largest Pittsburgh has ever had.

The press view in some respects is more interesting than the regular exhibition. Visitors to the galleries last night were kept in ignorance of the prize winning pictures and there was much speculation as to which had won the highest approbation of the art jury. Everybody in the throng had his favorite pictures, and no doubt left cocksure that he had picked the lucky paintings. If the final decision had been left to the press viewers, it is safe to say that not 10 canvases in the collection would have escaped getting a prize.

"And this is just the way it should be," said Alexander Roche, the eminent Scotch artist, who officiated as one of the jurors. "I have never seen a collection where the standard is so high. There is not an art exhibition among the many held in Europe where so many pictures of such sterling merit are to be found on view. Over there the members of the academy have the right of way in the hanging of pictures and the consequence is that you see only one school, or a so-called school, represented.

High Standard of Local Art.

"At the Carnegie galleries it is different. Here you have the best of all schools and the banner work of all living artists. Something like 650 paintings were submitted to the jury. Of this number 328 were accepted. Never have I seen pictures subjected to such severe criticism. It was a revelation to those of us who are familiar with the methods in European galleries. Considering the size of the display and the number of works on view, I do not hesitate to pronounce this one of the finest collections of modern art that I have seen.

"Those of you Pittsburghers, who have been accustomed to come here year after year, will not appreciate it. I consider this a rare treat. This is the only American city which is so liberal and yet so painstaking in its award of American artists."

The temporary building adjoining the Carnegie institute, with its uninviting exterior, provides better hanging room for the pictures than Pittsburghers have been accustomed to see. There is more wall space and the lighting effects are superior to those of the old galleries. The long brick shed is divided into three large chambers. The best pictures are divided evenly through all three, and no room, apparently, has been set apart for the best.

Portrait of Mrs. Carnegie.

A painting which attracted much comment last night, and which was not entered in the competition, is Roche's portrait of Mrs. Andrew Carnegie and her little daughter, Margaret. Besides being the first picture of Mrs. Carnegie on public view, it shows the Scotch artist's work at his best. Those who know Mrs. Carnegie declared that the painter had idealized a bit and in the portrait of the child he had painted a pair of characteristic Sir Joshua Reyonids eyes. The whole atmosphere of the picture seems to suggest the Grub street school.

Guesses upon the prize pictures were about evenly divided between the landscape of W. Elmer Schofield, entitled "Across the River," H. La Thangue's landscape, "On Lavington Down," and Alfred Agache's somber work, "Grief." All three have conspicuous positions on the walls and have the master-stroke of genius. Schofield's work shows a winter twilight scene on a forsaken mountain, where far across a dreary river the last beams of the glowing sun bathe the distant hills in a flood of gold. The contrast between the dismal valley and the warm touch of the sun on the lofty highlands, is most striking, and tells a mute story of the cheery influence of Old Sol as he yields to the winter night.

In Mr. La Thangue's picture there is more light and action. A boy stands in a field at the close of an autumn day, while the radiant sunlight brightens his happy face and kindles the stubble behind him in the glorious fires of the afterglow. Mr. Agache's "Grief" momentarily drew a sigh from those who were halted by its funeral summons. On an oriental tomb two female figures are prostrated. Their look of blank despair tells him who looks on that there is no resignation—no hope of immortality in them. The loved one for whom they weep has gone—and your weep in sympathy. For them there is no consolation, no dreams of a meeting place beyond the grave.

Gems by John W. Alexander.

It lifts a burden off the soul to walk a few steps and behold John W. Alexander's "Aurora Leigh" and let your spirit mingle with her buoyant fancies or to embrace his "Butterfly." Both are pictures of young women of bathsome complexions and laughing eyes. This old Pittsburgher has another picture in the collection, "The Mother," but there is something in it that fails to win the love that is aroused by his more cheerful efforts. In his modern Madonna he has left his story only half told, and leaves nothing sweet in the mystery, which probably mystified the artist, too.

W. D. Adams contributes a perplexing fantasy in "An Enchanted Knight." Alfred East gives a touch of dainty, refined coloring in a little landscape, "The Glade," and Alfred H. Maurer, who won a gold medal at the Carnegie international exhibition in 1901, furnishes a ballet girl picture which makes you wonder if he attempted sarcasm in placing such an attenuated face upon the female, who has just capered back into the wings with the bouquet which she holds. There were those cruel enough last night to declare that the artist had tried to foist off a rude joke as to the ballet dancer's age. Another of Mr. Maurer's works is equally bold. A corner in a park in France is shown, where the trees shine in the evening sun, reflecting a shade of green that looks like the glint of varnish on a new Venetian blind.

Many Impressionistic Effects.

Painters of the impressionistic have a copious representation. Conspicuous among these is a view of Lake George in purple moonlight, by Steigher, one of the pioneers of photo-secession. The landscape is poster-like in its effect and produces a spell that recalls dreamland. Childe Hassam contributes a view of Central park, in New York, that is strikingly Chinese in its myriads of startling colors. Edmund Aman-Jean has several works in the collection but all yield first place to his "Mirror in the Vase," where he depicts an airy, fairy creature cajoling her vanity by gazing steadfastly at her reflected beauty in the eddies of a fountain. The background is a haze of purple and terra cotta, and the figure of the woman seems like a spirit.

"He lives in dreamland," said Mr. Roche, in commenting upon this picture. "You can't make love to the women of Aman-Jean's brush. They are too dainty and delicate. They would fade if you would approach the canvas." A wonderfully realistic work is Joseph Ball's "Grace at the Hospital of Beaune, Cote d'Or." A group of nuns stand at the convent board bowed in prayer. The texture of their gowns, the grain of the wood and the elaborate mural decorations of the cloister, are reproduced with a fidelity to details that seems almost photographic, yet the light and the shadow and the effective detail work, and the facility of the artist in avoiding geometrical lines and amateurish rectangles, at once displays his genius.

A sweet idyll in oil is Charles Sprague Pearce's "Souvenir du Bonne d'Ault." A sweet-faced lassie in calico and wooden shoes walks gaily along a deep-worn path across a solitary dune. Hers for the present is a joyful mission and the gentle innocence of her cheeks is like the breath of the fragrant air that must have brought the rose tints to her charming dimples.

A Pittsburgher's Works.

Joseph R. Woodwell of Pittsburgh is represented by a little canvas entitled "Back of Pittsburgh's Iron Mills." Its title is amply suggestive of the theme and treatment of the subject. Homer Winslow's "Summer Squall" is a characteristic marine of his usual forcible treatment. There are more than a score of portraits. George Carspecken's two portraits likewise attracted much attention from the artist's local friends.

Brief mention of all the pictures would fill columns. To mention which proved most popular with last night's art lovers would be impossible in the scope of a newspaper article. Not all, however, received praise. There is one poster-like picture in a red frame that would make a stunning chimney piece for a barroom. Another, by Edwin Alexander, called "The Dead Stag," has the earmarks of immature work.

A portrait by Frank W. Benson of the two little sons of Director John W. Beatty, director of the Carnegie galleries, attracted much attention. John J. Enneking of Boston has a delightful twilight scene and J. J. Channing, whose picture, "Miss Kitty," is in the permanent exhibit, is represented by a captivating portrait. A Van der Weyden has a beautiful landscape in the "Mill Stream."

The facilities for handling large crowds in the temporary building are adequate for all demands and it is probable that more people will see this year's exhibit than any that Pittsburgh has held. The opinion expressed last night was that the 10th annual exhibition would mark material progress in the local galleries.

STUDENTS FIGHT POLICE.

Eight Persons Seriously Hurt in Clash at Boston—Score Get Minor Injuries.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—At least 25 persons were injured during a clash between students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and police reserves shortly after midnight. Of the number 20 were students. Most of the injuries consisted of scalp wounds and body bruises. Four students and four officers were so seriously injured as to necessitate their removal to hospitals. Others were treated at nearby drug stores and private residences.

The trouble occurred on the steps of Rogers hall, one of the technology buildings in Boylston street, where the students had gathered following the joint parade last night of Republican clubs of Harvard university and the Institute of Technology. The police had determined to keep the students from the steps of the building and when the college men made a rush up the steps they were met by the officers with drawn clubs, and a free fight ensued.

CAMPAIGNERS INJURED IN TROLLEY ACCIDENT

LAWRENCE, MASS., Nov. 3.—A message from North Andover says a special electric car carrying the "Salem Witches" and "Danvers Jolly Tars," two campaign companies which participated in the Republican parade in this city last night, while running at a high rate of speed, was derailed and overturned. Many are reported injured. Physicians and police have gone from this city to the scene of the accident.

BRITISH FLEET ORDERED TO SHADOW RUSSIANS

LONDON, Nov. 3.—It is reported that the channel Mediterranean and East Indian squadrons have received instructions to shadow Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet throughout its progress. Admiral Rojestvensky is expected to arrive at Tangier this morning. A British man-of-war at Malta is busily coaling preparing to watch the Baltic squadron.

Asks Judgment Against Ohioan.

AKRON, O., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company today brought suit against Charles L. Goehring of this city to recover $5,854 32. The allegation is made that when the Gohering plant here was sold to the company in 1902 the purchase was made on representations furnished by Goehring, which, the company asserts, gave the value of the plant as largely in excess of its real worth.

Youngstown Preparing a Welcome.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The manufacturers of the city are preparing to receive the members of the Steel and Iron institute who are visiting this country and who are expected to stop in this city for a few hours tomorrow on their way from Pittsburgh to Cleveland.

New Position Not Created.

The public safety committee of Allegheny councils last night suspended action on a measure that provides for the creation of an office of elevator inspector, with a salary of $1,200 a year. No one present could explain the advantages the addition of such an official would give to the city. A measure regulating the size and maintenance of signs was laid over until the next meeting.

Davis Begins Campaign Tour.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Nov. 2.—Former Senator Henry G. Davis arrived here tonight from Elkins to begin his second campaign tour in West Virginia, starting from Cumberland tomorrow. He will traverse the West Virginia Central railroad and branches.

KITSON PRAISES PITTSBURGH MEN

LOCAL VISIT ENDS TODAY

Sir James Kitson, senior past president of the Iron and Steel institute of Great Britain, brought to a close last evening the dinner of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company in honor of the institutte. With his address of thanks on behalf of the organization for the courtesies extended while the members were the guests of Pittsburgh, he ended also the last formal event connected with the local trip. This morning there will be, however, a number of side trips to local points of interest, before the party divides into two sections and leaves for St. Louis and for Cleveland.

Last evening's dinner at East Pittsburgh ended a day of much activity. In the morning the party was shown through the Edgar Thomson works at Braddock with the same careful attention that marked the trips through the Homestead and Duquesne works of the Carnegie Steel Company the day before. In the afternoon they saw the Westinghouse electric and machine shops at East Pittsburgh, and in their honor one of the great new turbines under construction there was shown in operation. Many of the party were personal friends of Sir Charles Parsons, the inventor of steam turbine developed by the Westinghouse factories, and their interest in the workings of the big engine was great.

Factory Handsomely Decorated.

To handle the crowd of close to 600 that attended the dinner was no small task. The main floor of one of the great factory buildings was cleared and the walls were covered to a height of 15 feet with English and American flags gracefully arranged and united by streamers of red and white bunting. From a balcony at one end came the orchestral music. At the entrance end palms and potted plants had been arranged to form a general reception room when the guests gathered before the banquet started.

The tables were arranged in such a way as to allow a grand round table at which sat the principal guests and hosts of the evening. Immense bunches of chrysanthemums and roses decorated the tables and added greatly to the pleasing effect of the banquet room. The room was brilliantly lighted with new forms of electric lamps made by Westinghouse concerns.

The procession to the tables was led by George Westinghouse and Mrs. Julian Kennedy, Frank H. Taylor and Miss Kitson, Sir James Kitson and Mrs. Frank H. Taylor, Herman H. Westinghouse and Mrs. George C. Smith.

The dinner was remarkable by reason of the absence of evening dress, the guests and hosts alike appearing in the dress worn throughout the day of factory inspection. About 100 ladies were in the party.

Two Speeches Made.

It was at the close of the dinner that the two speeches were made. George Westinghouse arose and said:

Ladies and gentlemen, members of the Iron and Steel Institute of Great Britain, and other guests: It gives me great pleasure to greet you this evening. We have enjoyed the visit of our distinguished guests and have felt ourselves highly honored by their presence here tonight. I must call upon my good friend, Sir James Kitson, to speak.

The speech of Sir James was a longer one. He said:

As representative of Andrew Carnegie, president of the iron and Steel Institute, I take pleasure in addressing you. By electing Mr. Carnegie to the presidency of this cosmopolitan institution we felt that we were not only paying a compliment to Pittsburgh, but to iron and steel men all over the world.

I have known Mr. Westinghouse for over 30 years. I was present in England when the initial trials of his brake were made and I have watched him surmount the great difficulties that were placed in his way.

Thanks Pittsburgh Hosts.

As this may be the last opportunity of doing so, I wish to tender the thanks of the Institute to our hosts during our Pittsburgh trip for their kindness, welcome and hospitality. It may be a case similar to that of the schoolboy's idea of the story of the prodigal son. When this boy was asked who was most happy over the incident, he replied: "The fatted calf." We have been feasted here, indeed, but when we have seen your overabounding prosperity we have so continued in receiving your overflowing hospitality.

Gentlemen of Pittsburgh, once more I thank you for your kindness in showing us so openly your iron and steel inventions and in making us feel so much at home with you.

Prolonged applause followed the conclusion of his remarks.

Walter M. McFarland of the electric company, who had charge of the arrangements, announced that the special trains to convey the party back to Pittsburgh would be ready in a few minutes, and the dinner ended.

One pleasing incident of the dinner was the standing of the entire party as the two national anthems, "God Save the King" and "The Star Spangled Banner" were played.

Invitations have been issued to the members of the party to visit the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company's works, the Park works of the Crucible Steel Company, the Allegheny observatory and other interesting local points, and many are taking advantage of these courtesies. Vice President Willis L. King of the Jones & Laughlin Company, was host for a party that visited the American works yesterday.

The trains taking the visitors away from Pittsburgh leave this afternoon, one over the Cleveland & Pittsburgh for Cleveland and the other over the Panhandle for St. Louis. About 60 of the 201 who came here are planning to go to St. Louis. The others will see the lake ore-handling facilities at Cleveland and Conneaut and go thence to Niagara Falls.

Dear Sir:—About 4 years ago I began to suffer with severe pains in my back making it impossible for me to do any work.

My limbs were swollen badly and I was troubled with an affection of the heart also, all coming as I suppose from Kidney trouble.

I had tried several Kidney remedies with little result, not satisfactory.

I asked Mr. Derrence, the druggist who handles your goods here and he recommended your Kidney and Backache Cure saying he had sold it for several years very successfully

I took 4 bottles and the swelling has all gone from my limbs and my heart trouble completely cured

I have recommended this Remedy to a large number of my acquaintances, with the same result.

MORLEY ARRIVES IN PITTSBURGH

Distinguished Englishman Happy in Opportunity to Speak at Founder's Day Exercises.

PROMISE TO AN OLD CHUM

When John Morley delivers his address at the tenth Founder's day at Carnegie Institute this afternoon he will be fulfilling a promise made long ago to his chum, Andrew Carnegie. The man who stands as the political antagonist of Joseph Chamberlain would not be suspected of referring to his friends as "chums," but that is the way the great Englishman put it last night. An intimate friendship between the baird of Skibo and the Englishman dates far back in the lives of both and there was glee in the Sunderland castle when Mr. Morley decided to come to America to grace the events at Founder's day.

"It's my second visit to America," said Mr. Morley. Above a pair of gold-rimmed glasses peered a pair of rather small eyes that are remarkably keen when it is remembered that Mr. Morley is 66 years of age. His lips are thin and his chin has a determined set. Pale cheeks, a mobile mouth and brow and rare gray hair give him an air of a leader among men.

"Yes, this is my second visit to this favored land, and I am endeavoring to make it a holiday jaunt," continued Mr. Morley. "I avoided the hurry and bustle of New York and hastened up into Canada immediately after leaving Mr. Carnegie upon reaching his American home. I have really seen very little of the United States since my arrival in New York. The perspective of a car window does it little justice, and I shall not presume to speak of America just now. I have been looking at this country wholly through the columns of the newspapers and car windows. I am not prepared to make guesses as to the lucky presidential candidate and other matters which are interesting the good people over here.

"I am happy to come to Pittsburgh and to speak here. How large is the hall? Holds not over 2,500? Good. President Cleveland was the honor guest at one Founder's day, was he not? And Mr. McKinley, too. Is Mayor Low coming? It is a splendid institution."

Mr. Morley was met at the Lake Erie station by Col. S. H. Church, W. N. Frew and John Eaton and drove at once to Mr. Frew's residence, where he will be a guest during his stay in Pittsburgh. Mr. Morley said his speech at the chamber of commerce banquet tomorrow night would be brief and would be delivered extemporaneously. Seth Low will arrive in Pittsburgh at noon today. Members of the Iron and Steel institute could not alter their itinerary in order to remain for today's celebration.

Mr. Morley and a few other guests will visit the art galleries and the institute this morning. The exercises in the music hall will begin at 2 o'clock. The program is as follows:

Organ solo, Finale (from the Pastoral Sonata) ..... Rheinberger
Edwin H. Lemare.

PLANS TO MAKE TEST.

City Controller Cunningham Writes a Letter to Judge Collier on the Retention of Commissions.

City Controller Cunningham yesterday addressed a letter to Judge Collier in common pleas court No. 1, by which he proposes to test the right of County Treasurer E. P. Collingwood to retain for his own 1 per cent of the state tax collected in the county. Controller Cunningham claims that for years past it has been the custom of the county treasurer to retain the money, but that from information he had received, he believes the money rightfully belongs to the county. Judge Collier ordered the letter filed. The commission retained by the county treasurer has long been a subject of protest by county officials and the supreme court not long ago, in a Philadelphia case, decided the county treasurers are not entitled to it.

Action will now be taken to determine the legal phase of the matter and it is reported that the controller also intends to take action against Recorder O'Neil and Mayor Stengel for commissions retained by them.

Clokey of the Calvary Presbyterian church, Braddock, and H. W. Dodd, Esq., secretary Prohibition headquarters, Pittsburgh.

Thursday, November 3, 1904.

While the robbery of the Chicora postoffice is suggestive of amateur effort in the force of the explosion, it bears other marks indicating the probability that it was committed by the gang that apparently makes a business of looting Uncle Sam's postal agencies. Amateurs, under the same circumstances, would probably have fled without securing any booty, frightened by the report that aroused the town. The prompt pursuit by the Butler county sheriff, with bloodhounds, may result in capture. In any event, the incident is one more added to the numerous list indicating the need for a state constabulary, untrammeled by imaginary lines of jurisdiction.

Westmoreland county comes to the front with another interesting law case of far-reaching application. It is that of a Monessen lumber company against the Monessen water company. The plaintiff alleges destruction of its plant by fire, owing to the fact that defendant company did not supply sufficient water to fight the flames. Damages are asked. Aside from the fact that Monessen is in the Pittsburgh district, local interest attaches to this case by reason of the frequent complaints of shortage of water on the South Side. The case should serve to determine the precise responsibility of a water company to its patrons and the measure of liability for damages for their inconvenience or losses from insufficient water supply.

Any Russian who seeks naturalization rights in another country without imperial consent is liable to punishment if he returns to his former home, and the rule has been to require permission of the Russian minister of the interior for a naturalized American Jew of Russian birth to travel in that country. This discrimination against the race was called to the attention of the secretary of state by congress and no little correspondence resulted. The announcement is now made, however, that the protest of the United States against the refusal of the Russian government to recognize passports issued to Jews who wish to travel in the czar's domain has proved effective and that the government is about to modify the restrictions. Undoubtedly this tendency to liberality is due to the incoming of the new minister of the interior, under whose administration general reforms are promised.

The accident in the Nanticoke mine yesterday which threw 10 men down the shaft to their death would seem to show that precautions for safety do not always save life. The investigation proved that when the loaded cage started down a shaft 1,700 feet deep the engineer lost control of it, but after it had shot down 1,000 feet or more the safety clutch worked, stopping the fall so suddenly that the bottom of the car was forced out. There is almost always an element of risk in the use of elevators, no matter how often and thoroughly they are inspected. The safety clutch provos a more efficient device to prevent fatalities than the street car fender, but men who descend 1,700 feet to their work are undertaking extra hazardous risks, while the chances of a person falling in front of a street car favor fatal injuries in spite of devices to protect life.

The war department estimates for the year ending next June are $3,832,288 less than the appropriations and five times that amount less than the estimates made a year ago. But it seems useless to prove any tendency to reduce the national outlay so long as the Democratic candidate insists that we are growing more extravagant. In this connection the explanation of Edward Atkinson that he was the authority for Judge Parker's misstatements about the cost of the Philippines is interesting, for it had been supposed that the figures were given without any authority. If there is any one man in the United States who can make figures lie it is Edward Atkinson and if the responsibility for the exaggerated statements had been given sooner Secretary Taft need not have put himself to so much trouble to deny them, for a mere statement that the showing was "according to Atkinson" would have been sufficient.

While it is generally admitted that asphalt makes one of the smoothest pavings in use, the question of sprinkling and cleaning it has never been satisfactorily settled. To sprinkle the asphalt when it is heated by the sun hastens the decay of the material and water makes the surface slippery for horses. In New York city sprinkling of asphalt paving has been done under contract by private parties, but Mayor McClellan proposes that the work be transferred to the city street cleaning department, where it can be regulated more satisfactorily. It is practically impossible to make the wet streets safe for horses, and the health department will try to find some other way of laying the dust. The best method is to flush the streets at night, but this means an enormous waste of water. It has been suggested that the sprinkling be done at night and followed immediately by sweeping, but even this method cannot be followed in cold weather. In the large cities traffic is never entirely discontinued, so that the streets are always busy.

Metering the Water Supply.

While Pittsburgh has been talking for years about metering the water supply and has yet to take the first step, Cleveland began that work in 1901 and has made sufficient progress to afford some idea of economic results. Cleveland was incited to adopt the system by the fact that pumpage had arisen to 170 gallons per capita daily, and there was no telling where it would stop, as consumption was far outrunning increase of population. The per capita in Pittsburgh has reached the enormous figure of 257 gallons daily and is rapidly increasing, but city councils still delay action.

At the close of last year 42.8 per cent of the water supply of Cleveland had been metered, or something over two-fifths. Even that fraction of control has shown marked results in preventing waste. For each three years from 1882 to 1900 the average increase in pumpage was 32.9 per cent. From 1897 to 1900 it was 38.7 per cent, but the pumpage in 1903 was 7.56 per cent less than it was in 1900. The report of the superintendent gives a calculation showing that although the city installs the meters at its own expense, there was a net saving in operating expenses during the year of $16,414. Installation cost is temporary, while the saving in operating expenses is continuous, and Cleveland is making a very profitable municipal investment.

The saving which the system brings to consumers is shown by the fact that of the 16,719 house meters installed to the close of 1903 only 1,346, or 8 per cent, impose heavier charges than the previous assessment rate, while 92 consumers were paying the same amount. The remainder, over 91 per cent of the whole, were paying less than before. In numerous cases the reduction was over two-thirds. And this, although previous assessment rates were much less than those charged in Pittsburgh, being less than half as much for the average household of one family.

We have no doubt that the installation of the meter system in Pittsburgh will result in even greater economies. Of course, it is absurd to think that every inhabitant within the area of Pittsburgh water supply uses 257 gallons daily, but consumers have to pay rates based upon that assumption. When consumers pay only for what they use the vast majority of the people will have to pay much less than at present. But in order to be relieved from the heavy overcharges to which they are now subject the people will have to persuade councils to act, and it appears to be a matter of great difficulty to induce councils to consider the interests of the common people.

Washington County Roads.

Washington county is in the throes of road-making. Not the old rural dirt road variety, but improved highways under the Flinn law, plus benefits from the state appropriation under the supervision of the highways department. Commissioner Hunter and Chief Engineer Randall of the department have been inspecting the work this week and have given warm approval to several sections—one in particular running out from the town of Washington. They have also inspected some roads in Greene county for which state aid has been asked.

Meanwhile an organization of citizens of Washington county, styling themselves the Taxpayers league, have employed attorneys and are entering protests against payment of the contractors who are building the Claysville-Burnsville road. It is expected they may extend their objections to other road work. The ostensible object is to prevent payment for roadways not fully up to specifications, though the pro-road improvement people accuse the Taxpayers league of an ulterior purpose, namely, to prevent the improvement of roads in general. The Gazette cannot undertake to decide upon the merits of the case, though it is prepared to praise the efforts of Washington county to construct good roads. It is equally ready to applaud the taxpayers for efforts to compel first-class construction, if made in good faith, and it hesitates to believe that any citizens of so progressive a county would organize themselves as a barrier to progress.

In any event, it is gratifying to note the extent to which the good roads movement is taking hold upon the various counties. Some of them, it is true, have made no applications to the highways department for assistance, but a large number have. As the benefits of these roads now under construction become apparent the movement will gain strength. Experience with really good roads creates desire for their extension, and it seems certain that within 10 years Pennsylvania will lose its distinction of maintaining the worst roads outside of China.

The Business Clergyman.

A writer in one of the current magazines makes a plea for the "business clergyman," and he cites examples of growth made possible only by the knowledge of the congregation that the money contributed would be wisely expended. He shows how in spite of the disadvantages of location down town, such churches as St. Bartholomew's and St. George's in New York have developed until they embrace large activities for philanthropic work which enlist an army of earnest employes. The inference is that this growth has been the result of administrative ability and the church is advised to select men competent to deal in the "business side of religion" to lead them. On the other hand, the person about to enter the ministry is urged to consider the breadth of the field he may acquire if only he develops these talents.

There could be scarcely anything further from the truth than to claim that the great need of leaders in religious organizations is executive ability. If one is to succeed in a profession he must excel in its distinctive feature, while the secondary elements of character may serve as aids to attainment. The lawyer must be familiar with law, the doctor with medicine, while the writer must possess literary ability. Mere technical knowledge is not sufficient, but the successful man must be so absorbed in his subject that he will know how to use his knowledge. The same rule applies to the ministry, whose ideal is spirituality.

Often there are discussions about the failure of clergymen to fill churches and a demand is made that they should have greater literary ability so as to be able to preach eloquent sermons. But literary effort as sermons have merely temporary success unless they are the product of earnest spirituality. Clerical details for the different societies and classes in the parish are merely incidental, and they will be properly cared for by the man of intense spiritual power. The world is hungering for expressions of sympathy from one who is in harmony with the great secrets of life, and the older he grows the greater his experience and the more valuable ought to be his services. No one talked about the talent of the late Bishop Brooks for organization or his skill in writing sermons, yet his power over men was tremendous, for all his hearers recognized that he had sufficiently attained in the hidden life to inspire others.

Judge Parker's Charges.

The Democratic campaign has dragged Judge Parker down to its level, and in accepting his party policy of substituting personal abuse for discussion of political issues he goes to the extreme of reckless invention and baseless assertion. His feats excite amazement in his own party, for none of the old campaigners have had the hardihood to make such extravagant misrepresentations as those in which their presidential candidate indulges.

It is probably due to the fact that when he romances about the Philippines or the public expenditures his misrepresentations have to meet facts of record that he is now devoting himself to charges that the Republican campaign is being carried on by the aid of contributions from the trusts. Doubtless campaign managers are glad to receive contributions from any source, but if that in itself is culpable, does anyone believe that the Democratic party is innocent? The great argument used in behalf of the nomination of Judge Parker was that his candidacy would insure the support of the trusts who were aggrieved by President Roosevelt's policy of governmental control. It was dinned into the ears of delegates at St. Louis that you cannot run a campaign without money and that the nomination of Parker would mean a full campaign chest. It is notorious that Standard Oil interests were well represented in the group of politicians who had charge of Parker's canvass, and it is a prevalent belief among political insiders that those interests have shown a generous friendship toward the Democratic campaign.

Such things do not go upon record, but remain a matter of conjecture, so that Judge Parker has found one place in which he can make wild statements and escape immediate disproof. Lack of disproof he treats as proof, saying that if newspaper charges against Mr. Cortelyou were not true, Mr. Cortelyou would reply to them. By parity of reasoning Standard Oil money is running the Democratic campaign, as that charge was made and has not been refuted.

The point of importance in the matter is not whether business interests have made campaign contributions. Doubtless they have done so, but the Republican party has received less of them and the Democratic party more of them than before. We have yet to learn that it is wrong for any person or any interest to give money in aid of a cause whose promotion is regarded as desirable. The wrong comes in if the contribution is made as part of a deal for legislative favor. Now, upon that very point the character of the Republican campaign gives assurance of integrity higher than ever known before and incomparably superior to any afforded by Judge Parker's own candidacy. The public has had demonstrative evidence that neither threats nor persuasion can budge President Roosevelt from what he considers to be his duty. His course raised up against him powerful enemies, and only the way in which popular sentiment arrayed itself in support of his candidacy prevented an effective opposition to his nomination by the cabals formed against him and which did their best to control the situation but found it impossible. It was well known at the time that the prime reason why President Roosevelt insisted upon the selection of Mr. Cortelyou as party chairman was that he was determined to take no risk of having obligations incurred by the campaign management to influences which he had always withstood and of which he asked no favor. Hence the campaign has been conducted upon a higher plane than ever before. It has been from first to last an appeal to the public reason. President Roosevelt will be absolutely free and unfettered by any pledge or obligation save such as has been given publicly to the people, and no one will be in a position to assert any claims for favor. The same has never been true before to so great an extent, and it is far from being true as regards Judge Parker's own candidacy. At every stage of his candidacy, both for the nomination and for the election, he has been in the hands of his friends, and those friends include a number whom the people have good reason to distrust on just such grounds as those on which Judge Parker now falsely arraigns the Republican leaders.

Premier Robert Bond and his followers have carried the New Foundland election by a large majority. The victorious party opposes union with Canada and favors reciprocal trade relations with the United States, so the election is of more than passing interest to the American people.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Flushing, L. I., is today in the throes of a literary hewday-do that threatens to disrupt its most exclusive circles. Flushing prides itself upon being well read. Flushing boasts of its cure in the selection of its reading. Consequently Flushing is today torn by doubts as to whether it has been remiss in its literary duties or whether it ought to consult Anthony Comstock before it goes any further. It is all due to the lecture delivered by Cecil F. Lavell, M. A. The women of the Good Citizenship league thought Mr. Lavell's lecture was very entertaining, but they are still wondering why Mr. Lavell recommended that they read Boccaccio's "Decameron."

Flushing has heard of Boccaccio's "Decameron," but it has never read it. In fact, Flushing had received very definite information that Anthony Comstock had made very pointed inquiries about this "Decameron," and that he was not at all satisfied about it. Flushing has frequently seen the "Decameron" on the shelves of second-hand book stores in out-of-the-way quarters of Manhattan, but it has sedulously avoided prying into the flaming red covers of the tabooed home. Flushing has read Mr. Fielding's "Tom Jones." It has glanced over an unexpurgated edition of Dean Swift's "Gulliver," and even taken a peep at a canned version of Rabelais, but the "Decameron"—never, never. The incident is by no means closed. Flushing is hearing from it every five minutes. It was learned today that two well-known women called upon a local newsdealer for a copy of the "Decameron," and were told with unmistakable expressions of horror that the book was never sold at that store.

Bridge Cars Can Now Run Along.

Bridge Commissioner Best was jubilant today when he received word of the action of Justice Smith in Brooklyn, dissolving the temporary injunction which held back the operation of cars on the new Williamsburg bridge. The justice's ruling was made, it was announced for the public benefit, and the legal points involved are to be threshed out later. Commissioner Best made a contract with the different Brooklyn companies operating in Williamsburg to send their cars across the bridge. Half a dozen Brooklyn associations got together and found that the contract was not sufficiently binding on the railroad companies and brought suit on the grounds that Mr. Best had exceeded his authority and had made an illegal contract. The temporary injunction voided today was granted on their application. Under Judge Smith's ruling, cars will be started regularly Friday. Today a trip of inspection was made, starting at 3 o'clock from the New York end of the Brooklyn bridge.

Thief Has Musical Ear.

Louis Natione has reported to the police of the West Thirtieth street police station that he has been robbed of 14 concertines, one of which had been given to him by President Loubet of France, he said, and which was valued at $200. He stated that his musical instruments were valued at about $900. Natione arrived in this country a few days ago and his trunk load of instruments was taken to his rooms. He says he only took out the concertina which the French president had given to him, and played several French airs. He then laid down for a few minutes' rest and was awakened by the sound of a French air being played in the street. Rushing to the window he saw an express wagon driving from in front of his home, and in the vehicle was a man playing his favorite instrument. He started in pursuit, but the man escaped. Detectives Lehr and Kirke were assigned to the case.

Somnabulist Jumps to His Death.

Henry Geggers was instantly killed early today by a fall of four stories from a window of his apartment in Hoboken to the courtyard below. Geggers was a somnambulist, and after unconsciously upsetting a table, by which act a lamp was dashed to the floor and the house set afire, he combatted the efforts of his wife, son and a neighbor to save him and crashed through a closed window, shattering the glass into fragments. Heavy plate glass and strong frames which composed the window were shattered into bits as Geggers' heavy form crashed through. His body was picked up with every bone broken after he had fallen to the ground many feet below. The police scout the theory of suicide and assert that Geggers believed he was attacked, in his changed state, and did not realize what he was doing.

Morgan to Get New Job.

It is said that at the next meeting of the board of trustees of the Metropolitan Museum of Art on November 21, the name of J. Pierpont Morgan will be put up for election as president to succeed the late Frederick W. Rhinelander, and that Mr. Morgan, if elected, will accept the office. Mr. Morgan, as the first vice president, is now acting as president of the museum. Gen. Louis P. Di Cesnola, the director of the museum said that he would be very glad if Mr. Morgan should be elected, because Mr. Morgan was much interested in art. Gen. Di Cesnola added that Mr. Morgan had just had published an elaborate and exceedingly costly work descriptive of his splendid collection of Chinese porcelain, which he lent to the museum.

Remarkable Nerve of Injured Man.

What is considered at the New York hospital a remarkable case of endurance and strength was revealed today when a policeman reported to the West Twentieth street station that Edwin Fisher, 22 years old, had shot himself while in Central park, and had then, though a bullet had grazed his heart, walked to Eighth avenue and Twentieth street before he fell. Even then he had strength enough to get to his feet and stagger on. Policeman Olph hurried the man to the station, where he seemed to pull himself together somewhat and stood at the railing. He told Sergeant Gilmartin that while in Central park he had shot himself, and then, throwing the revolver away, had walked where he did not know. He had been walking since then, he said, and added that he was feeling "tired." An ambulance was summoned from the New York hospital and Fisher was hurried there. An examination showed that he had shot himself directly over the heart. His condition is critical.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

When kicking is in order, kick; and kick as hard as you can without kicking yourself out of the ring.

The ring, that's the thing.

If some of those in the ring were to set up strong kicks against wrong doing and in favor of right doing we would soon have society in pretty good shape.

Soon, in this sense, doesn't mean tomorrow, next month, nor next year, but in the course of a generation or two.

But why should you concern yourself about coming generations?

Just because the improvement of the race and the betterment of society should be the chief concerns of all men.

The man who lives for himself is of no practical use to the world; therefore he might as well never have been born.

It is what you do for the benefit of coming generations, without neglecting the present, that will count in your favor in the life to come, worlds without end.

So commend the right frankly and freely, and condemn that which is wrong just as frankly and freely, and then do what you can, all you can, to advance the right and to restrain wrong doing.

This is religion in its fullest sense.

Dear Quiet Observer:—Your inquiry, "Well, what do you think of Hallowe'en now?" calls for an answer.

It has, in this city at least, become in many of its features, the fool's festival. When women, old and young, put on men's clothes and parade the streets, mingle with the rabble, smoke cigarettes, enter saloons, drink at the bar and act so unwomanly as to disgust men who are in the habit of visiting such places themselves, and whose standard of morals is not very high, it is well to ask what sane people think of it.

The liquor dealer would, no doubt, say he would like to have such festivals frequently. The public drinking of women, however, is only another step in the downward course that begins at home, or in the drinking rooms for "ladies" connected with saloons.

This feature of your question is one for the moralist. It touches the heart and life of society. What will save a people when men and boys, women and girls, get the liquor habit?

B. M. LEWIS.

* * * * *

Mr. Quiet Observer:—I am glad you asked us what we thought of Monday night's doings.

If I could have my way I would modify Hallowe'en doings very much.

Let the girls and boys, old and young, have all the fun they can, but let it be decent, orderly fun.

Were I the head of the police bureau I would give due notice through the newspapers that the night's doings would be regulated, and then I would proceed to regulate.

One of the regulations would be that all the people going in one direction should keep to one side of the street, and all going the other way keep to the other side, and all mummers and marchers keep in the middle of the street.

How is it they can regulate wagons that way and not people? And to all rowdies forming center rushes to crush spectators I would give a ride to the river.

I was in the jam in Fifth avenue and I just wanted to be a policeman and have a mace every time one of those rowdy center-rush crowds came along. I don't think they would have acted as they did. I often wonder if other cities allow crowds to act as they do in Pittsburgh.

Won't you give this note space in your column and let the matter be agitated, so when we women have occasion to go out to see a parade we will not be jammed and jostled to death?

Should any old crusty say for us to stay at home, we would just say to him to stay at home himself.

SPECTATOR.

* * * * *

Mr. Quiet Observer:—Permit me to call your attention to the gross violation of the rights of foot passengers on the public highways.

In the part of the world I came from it is an axiom of common law that the foot passenger has the right of way, leaving to him, however, the exercise of needful precaution. In European and a number of American cities this is observed. In Pittsburgh the horse and motor have it. My assertion is easy of proof and already known as a fact to all observers, drivers and walkers.

At any downtown corner at any hour during daylight watch the miserable farce of a policeman waving his stick at drivers of cars and horses, regulating in a way their crossings and utterly neglecting those of the walkers who are forced to make wild dashes at opportune moments in order to cross the streets.

The worst of all is the blocking of crossings with horses and vehicles while others are passing at right angles to them, and this is done at all the principal corners every few minutes during busy hours, and in full view of police.

You may exclaim about the narrow and crowded streets of this city. There are other cities having just as narrow streets and dense crowds as this, where a foot passenger may cross in safety and comfort. But in those places the police seem to have some drill and knowledge of common law as to the rights of men both on foot and horse, things the police in Pittsburgh certainly do not possess.

Here is food for thought.

Considering the fact that our municipal governments are democratic, the same as the national government, the wonder is that the people permit nuisances to continue undisturbed.

Officials are not more to blame for existing evils than are the people themselves, if as much.

Taking all in all, a majority of officials will respect the wants of those who elect them, and those who do not have no right to ask to be continued in office. And if a city official knows that he will only be permitted to serve the people as long as he serves them well, he will be good.

The people can put an end to this graft business in a very short time by electing non-grafters and anti-grafters to office.

Having it in their power to make the city government what it ought to be the people are as much to blame for the continuance of grafting and other abuses, as are city officials.

City politicians whoop up the votes, while those who clamor for good government will hardly go to the polls themselves, much less take off their coats and whoop up votes enough to elect good men to the offices.

Cartiall campaigning, speaking on street corners from a truck or automobile, has proved a failure in New York this year and both parties are gradually abandoning such work. There is general complaint by speakers and candidates that they cannot hold a crowd in the street. One Tammany speaker, traveling in a big automobile preceded by a fife, found at one corner, where he was billed to speak, three men and two small boys. He abandoned his trip then and there.

Capt. Richmond P. Hobson, Democratic nominee for presidential elector-at-large, has cancelled his dates to make political addresses in Alabama during the closing week of the campaign, and by orders of National Democratic Chairman Taggart has hastened to the doubtful states of the north to make as many speeches as possible in the brief time that remains before the election. Capt. Hobson opened in Indiana, Monday, and will proceed from that state to West Virginia and afterward will go to New Jersey and New York to close the campaign. Before leaving Alabama Hobson created a sensation by declaring in a speech delivered at Bessemer that he had taken upon himself the personal responsibility of sending a telegram to Congressman J. Thomas Heflin calling upon him to resign as the Democratic congressional nominee in the Fifth district and permit the nomination to go to the next highest aspirant in the race for the nomination at the April Democratic primary.

"What do you call them?"

"Independent voters who may be approached."

"How are they going to vote?"

The Wellesley college girls have elected Roosevelt to the presidency and now can't understand why the campaign still goes on. It was all done by a torchlight procession in which about 800 girls took part, followed by a rally at the Barn. The different halls were variously costumed and enjoyed such decorations as "Teddy's Tooters," "Roosie's Rooters," "Teddy's Readies," "Roosevelt's Roarers," and bore transparencies displaying the mottoes, "We Adore Theodore" and "Fairbanks and Bank Account for All." At the close of the meeting Roosevelt was declared elected, and cheers were given heartily for the two presidents worshipped by the girls, "Roosevelt and Hazard."

A committee of Democrats from Connecticut, headed by Henry A. Bishop, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, will meet Judge Parker at the Grand Central station in New York this morning. The special train which will carry him to Connecticut will leave 10 minutes later. It is timed to reach Bridgeport at 11:40 a. m., where Judge Parker, after taking luncheon at Mr. Bishop's home in that town, will hold a reception at the armory. The special train will leave Bridgeport at 2:30 p. m. and will arrive at New Haven after a run of half an hour. Judge Parker will make a short address in New Haven and will then go on to Hartford, where he is due at 6 o'clock, in time to have dinner before making in Hartford his principal speech in Connecticut. He will remain in Hartford over night, but will be back in New York city again before 10 o'clock on Friday morning.

"The liquor men are figuring in at least three state campaigns," says the Washington Post. "In Indiana, West Virginia and New York they are training with the Democrats and doing all they can, or all they dare to do, to defeat Republican nominees. In Indiana, the liquor men have a grudge against the Republicans for the so-called Nicholson law; in West Virginia, they have a grudge against the Republicans for increasing the cost of licenses at the recent extra session of the legislature, and in New York they have a grudge against Odell because he has not had enacted by the legislature certain measures promised them for their support of him in the campaign of 1902. In each of the three states the following which the liquor dealers can command is calculated to be large."

"The campaign committees of the great political parties of the United States have not thought it worth while to send any of the high salaried speakers and orators to Mexico in the interest of the presidential candidate, but, nevertheless, the American population of Mexico City is going to cast its vote on November 8," says Samuel Milligan of that city. "The vote may never be counted officially, but before the morning of November 9 either Roosevelt or Parker will be notified that he has carried Mexico City. By a sort of spontaneous process, it was decided a week or so ago by a party of Americans, in informal session, that a vote of Americans be taken on the day when the millions of people in the United States are voting. Such an act is open rebellion against the laws of the United States, which declare that residents of foreign colonies are not entitled to an exercise of the franchise; but, notwithstanding that fact, the vote will be taken. The only qualification will be that the voter be an American and that he be at least 21 years old. His mere presence at the voting place will be sufficient. And there will be but one precinct. That will be in the office of P. W. Forgate street. The polls will be open from afternoon only. Some of the judges and clerks are Democrats and some Republicans. The fact should be a guarantee given the public that the election will be on the square and the voting will not be according to the Australian system, but it will be some sort of secret process that will give immunity to the man who votes for Roosevelt when he knows his boss expect him to vote for Parker, or vice versa. And he can vote but for one man, for the question is to determine whether the American only in Mexico City is for Roosevelt or Parker."

Politicians in Orange, N. J., believe in each other out. One night last week Mayor S. Stokes, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, delivered an address in Music hall, and on the afternoon of the day of his appearance a large white cloth sign was swung out from the front of the building. The sign read:

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR IN MUSIC HALL TONIGHT.

Charles C. Black, the Democratic candidate for governor, spoke in Orange Tuesday night, and in the afternoon a white cloth sign was swung out in front of the building. The sign read:

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR IN MUSIC HALL TONIGHT.

It was the same sign, and the following conversation is said to have passed between William Adgate Lord, a prominent Republican worker and a former assemblyman, and Lawrence T. Fell, the Democratic leader in Orange:

"Say, Billy."

"Well, Larry?"

"Charlie Black is going to speak in Music hall tonight."

"Yes."

"Yes, Say, Billy, lend us that 'Our Next Governor' sign you put out last week when Stokes came to town."

"Why, sure, Larry, help yourself; we're glad to let you have it."

It is just these little amenities that keep the bitterness of the campaign out of Orange.

CONTESTS ARE IN CHAIRMAN'S HAND

Proposed New Rules of Republican City Committee Makes Some Important Changes.

GOVERNOR SPEAKS TONIGHT

The proposed new rules of the Republican city committee were made public yesterday. A copy has been mailed to each member of the city executive committee. The committee will meet tonight in Republican headquarters, Grant and Diamond streets, to discuss and accept, reject or amend the work of the committee on rules. The rules committee will meet at 3 p. m. today to complete the preparation of its report.

There are some radical changes in the new rules from the old manner of things, one of which was explained in yesterday's Gazette. That one provides that any man, to be eligible to vote at the Republican primaries, must have voted the Republican ticket at the two preceding elections, but in order to permit members of the Citizens party to vote at the coming January primaries the rule will not go into effect until after the February election. If it went into effect now Citizens could not take part in the January primaries, because they did not vote the Republican ticket at the municipal election in February.

An important change is made by the new rules in the method of deciding contests of delegates elected at primary elections. According to the present rules the ward committee decided contests, but the new rule practically gives that power to the chairman of the city executive committee.

Must File Complaint With President.

The contestant is required, immediately after the primary election, to file his complaint with the president of the district association, who is required to report the complaint to the chairman of the city committee, who shall lay it before the city committee at a meeting to be held on the Monday following the primary election. The chairman of the city committee then appoints a sub-committee of not less than three members of the city committee to take testimony and make a recommendation to the city committee. If he deems it necessary, the city chairman can appoint a sub-committee for each ward in which contests exist. The city committee receives the report of the contest sub-committees, and either accepts or rejects it, and from that decision there is no appeal.

The decision concerning contests for seats in the ward committees is left, as before, to the district associations, but the new rules also permit an appeal to the city committee, and again the city chairman appoints a committee of three, but in this case the contest committee makes a decision which is final, without the approval of the city committee.

The new rules make the district associations consist of 10 instead of 15 members, abolishing the three registering officers. The registering officers have been found to be unnecessary, Chairman Max G. Leslie says, because they have never done the duties required of them.

Qualifications of Members.

The present rules provide that any ward committee has the authority to remove its chairman, whenever it shall appear that he has refused or neglected to assist or has opposed or is opposing the Republican party or its candidates. The new rules authorize the chairman of the city committee to decide whether such ward chairman has been derelict in his duties and to remove him and appoint a member in his place.

The new rules contain the following qualifications of a member of the city committee, taken from the rules of the Republican city committee of Philadelphia:

No person shall be eligible as a member of the Republican city committee who did not faithfully and loyally support all the candidates of the party at the last preceding election and who will not faithfully and loyally support all the candidates of the party at the election then pending or ensuing, and his known opposition to any of the candidates of the party shall be cause for his immediate expulsion.

The Republican city committee is hereby vested with full and absolute power and authority to settle and determine which in case of two ward executive committees existing in any ward, is the regularly organized ward executive committee, and the ward executive committee so recognized as regular shall be obeyed and respected accordingly.

The new rules give the city committee full power to decide which of two contesting ward committees is the legal one.

The Governor Will Speak.

Gov. Pennypacker will be the star speaker at the Republican mass meeting to be held tonight in Carnegie hall, Braddock. The governor will reach Braddock at 8:30 p. m. and after the meeting will come to Pittsburgh, spend the night at the Hotel Schenley and depart for Harrisburg at 7:15 a. m. tomorrow. Congressman John Dalzell will also address the meeting.

Republicans attended an old-fashioned "hustings" last night in Library. The meeting was held on the lawn in front of the house of "Farmer" William F. Hammel, and the speakers were Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, Perry A. Shaner and H. M. Irons. Farmer Hammel was present himself, bigger than life, and urged the gathering to applause. Other Republican meetings and speakers last night were: Mt. Oliver borough, Capt. John A. Reed, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld and C. E. Theobald; Wilmerding auditorium, A. C. Robertson and Mad. A. B. Hay; Kasemer hall, Clairton, R. H. Jackson, G. H. Bonner and Samuel J. Hibbs; Bank hall, Swissvale, William M. Benham, J. E. Hindman and Robert M. Ewing.

For this evening the following Republican meetings have been arranged: Sixth ward public school, Allegheny, William M. Benham, Charles A. O'Brien and R. H. Jackson; Gill hall, Jefferson township, Capt. John A. Reed and L. B. Cook; Armory hall, Oakdale, Perry A. Shaner, H. M. Irons and William H. Coleman; Holmes public school, Fourteenth ward, Pittsburgh, James Francis Burke, Charles F. Kline and Robert M. Ewing; Mannerchor hall, Thirty-seventh ward, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, Daniel Ashworth, John F. Cox and Charles H. Kline; Garfield school, Nineteenth ward, J. Welfred Holmes, A. J. Edwards and W. H. Baird.

SENSATION IS PROMISED.

Charge Is Made That McKeesport Politicians Are Trying to Smother an Investigation.

Sensational developments which threaten to involve the characters of several officials of McKeesport are expected as a result of Mayor George J. F. Falkenstein's announcement yesterday that he had decided to give Detective Fred Lamp nothing more severe than a 15-day suspension after finding him guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer. Policeman Frank Hoope, who made the charge, and who is now at his home suffering from two fractured ribs as a result of his encounter with Detective Lamp, declares the matter will be taken into the courts unless something further is done by the McKeesport officials.

Officer Hoope alleges influential politicians, who fear a close investigation of the matter, have called upon him and attempted to persuade him to drop the case. Hoope says he had intended to make a criminal charge against Lamp, but decided to give the heads of the department a chance to investigate. He will now institute proceedings against Lamp before an alderman. The members of the police committee have been asked to look into the matter and some will refuse to approve the department payroll unless Lamp's name is taken off it.

Program for Institute Week.

Supt. J. R. Richey of the McKeesport public schools yesterday announced his program for the coming teachers' institute, which takes place in the High school auditorium during the week beginning Monday, November 21. The instructors who will address the teachers are Dr. M. V. O'Shea, University of Wisconsin; Strickland W. Gillilan, Baltimore American; Gen. Z. T. Sweeney of Columbia, Ind.; Prof. Samuel Hamilton, Braddock; Dr. Thomas M. Balliet of the University of New York and Dr. S. H. Albro of Freedonia, N. Y.

McKeesport Man Has Grievance.

Walter Hewitt, a McKeesport business man, believes that dishonest persons have a special grudge against him. A few days ago his home was entered and valuables to the amount of $300 were taken. Yesterday Hewitt started out to collect about $600 which he thought was due him. He claims that practically all of the money had been paid to a former clerk, who never turned it over to him.

SHOOK THE EARTH FOR FIVE MILES

Ton of Dynamite Explodes, and Leaves a Cavern Eight Feet Deep.

ONE KILLED, MANY INJURED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The explosion of over a ton of dynamite under the Bond street bridge here at 1 o'clock today, shook the city and the surrounding country within a radius of five miles, killed at least one person and injured nearly 30 others, two of whom may die. The man supposed to have been killed was an Italian in charge of the dynamite. He was seen at his post of duty just before the explosion, and no trace of him has since been found.

Those supposed to be fatally injured are:

MRS. GEORGE A. HARLOW.
MRS. NICHOLSON.
CHILD, four months old.

There were 2,200 pounds of dynamite stored at the side of the deep rock cut running from the western limits of the city to the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad station, which was used for blasting a path for additional tracks. The explosion tore a hole in the ground 80 feet deep, that is now full of water from a hidden spring, wrecked the Bond street bridge over the railway tracks, broke all the windows within a quarter of a mile and hurled large stones for blocks. Many houses were shifted from their foundations, walls were stripped of plaster and furniture was splintered.

A heavy train, bound from New York, was just pulling out of the Mount Vernon station when the explosion occurred. In another minute this train would have reached the bridge.

Most of the persons injured were caught by falling ceilings and walls. Stoves in stores and dwellings were overturned and many fires were started. The whole police force and the fire department were called out.

Chief of Police Foley at once arrested William F. Ryan, foreman of the gang of workmen, employed on the blasting operations, and many witnesses are now held while an investigation is being made into the cause of the explosion. The dynamite was owned by the Egly-Bunty Construction Company, which is doing blasting for the railroad company preparatory to the establishment of the new four track system.

MARRON SAYS PUBLIC MAY EXPECT SENSATION

He and John C. Haymaker Drop Their Private Practice to Hasten Graft Investigation.

Some progress may be expected in the development of the investigation that is being made of the charges of graft against the police officials of Allegheny. Attorney John Marron announced yesterday that he and John C. Haymaker would devote an entire week to the graft cases, and had decided not to engage in any private practice during this time.

"Mr. Haymaker and I came to the conclusion today that we would drop everything for the present and for a week give our undivided attention to the affairs in Allegheny. We are not going to talk during this period, but will let our actions proclaim our activity. The hearing of Capt. James Wilson tomorrow afternoon will make some news and subsequent proceedings will give the public something to talk about."

District Attorney Stewart was spoken to and said he thought that during the next week the investigation would assume its full growth. The lid is to be taken off completely and conditions in the lower wards are to be exposed to public consideration. Nothing is to be overlooked, for it is the intention of the prosecuting attorneys to bring the investigation to a climax as quickly as possible and have the entire affair finished without unnecessary delay.

The hearings of Nettie Gordon and Alice Scott, who keep disorderly houses in Allegheny, and who were charged with selling liquor without a license, did not take place yesterday. Alderman Toole says that Constable Thomas A. Joyce, who held the subpoenaes, has made no returns, and that the hearings had to be postponed.

Sent Bullets After Fleeing Thief.

A negro attempted to enter the home of Dennis McCue, 58 Bedford avenue, Crafton, early yesterday morning. A neighbor saw him, fired a shot and the thief took to his heels. A policeman, hearing the shot, blew his whistle and started to the scene. Catching sight of the fleeing negro, he also whipped out his revolver and began to shoot. The other three policemen of the town arrived and for a time a perfect fusillade was kept up. The negro was chased in the direction of Sheraden and escaped. The town is excited over the numerous burglaries which have been perpetrated there recently.

Two Policemen Discharged.

Sixteen policemen were before the trial board yesterday. Andrew Terry and John Dunn were dismissed from the service, Terry for conduct unbecoming an officer and Dunn for drinking while on duty. The others were penalized with small fines and suspensions.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is In Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and intestines. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

DELUGE DROWNS NINE PERSONS

Reservoir Bursts in Residence Section, Releasing Nearly a Million Gallons of Water.

HOUSES WERE WASHED AWAY

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 2.—A reservoir of the municipal water works, located near the center of Winston Salem, N. C., broke at 5 o'clock this morning, causing the loss of nine lives.

The dead:

MRS. MARTIN PEEPLES.
MRS. YOGELER.
MRS. JOHN POER and 12-year-old daughter.
MRS. SOUTHERN.
JOHN SOUTHERN.
MISS OCTAVIA BAILEY, aged 20.
LUCILLE MALONE, colored.
CAROLINA MARTIN, colored.

The north side of the reservoir, which is 30 feet high, tumbled over, falling on the home and barn of Martin V. Peeples. There were about 800,000 gallons of water in the reservoir, and the mad stream rushed to Belos road, a distance of half a mile. Four tenement houses were washed away.

A colored man named Davis and his wife floated on their bed to the railroad junction, a distance of 500 yards. They landed on a heap of rubbish without a scratch.

The water that flowed from the reservoir formed a pond in the vicinity and it was thought that several people may have been drowned in this. It will be drained.

The reservoir was surrounded by a number of residences. It is understood the structure had been condemned.

Six Cars Were Demolished.

A freight wreck caused by a broken flange and wheel on a Pittsburgh & Lake Erie train occurred yesterday morning at the viaduct from Fleming park to Neville island, west of McKees Rocks. Six loaded coal cars were demolished and the four tracks were tied up for 10 hours. The wrecked cars ran into a signal tower spanning the tracks and wrecked it, rendering the signal system useless.

ROBBERS ELUDE PURSUERS.

Trace Lost of the Men Who Looted Chicora Postoffice—Burglars at Butler.

BUTLER, PA., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Reports this evening state that the pursuit of the robbers of the Chicora postoffice by the posse of citizens of that town and local officers, has practically been abandoned, and the thieves seem to have made good their escape. The thieves gained entrance to the postoffice through a rear window, wrecked the safe and a building owned by Hoch Brothers, with a tremendous charge of nitro-glycerin, and escaped with nearly $150 cash and between $500 and $1,000 worth of stamps. The damage to the building and safe amounts to $1,000.

In Butler last night burglars entered the house of Hugh Connelly, a wholesale liquor dealer, and stole $167, which Connelly had hidden under the bath tub. At Slippery Rock the store of Bingham & Co. was robbed of guns, revolvers and other merchandise, worth $100.

LONG-DISTANCE BANKING.

Pittsburgh Becoming a Great Financial Center.

Pittsburgh is rapidly advancing to the very front rank as a great financial center, and much of this is due to the enterprise of a number of its leading banks, who are stretching out not only all over this continent, but all over the world for business.

The system of Banking by Mail, introduced and perfected by the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings over 10 years ago, is largely responsible for the vast amount of money that comes from nearby and far off points to Pittsburgh, and especially to this strong, old-established bank. As an illustration of the scope of Banking by Mail, we understand that the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings has, during the past two weeks, received four new accounts from the Philippine islands, one from Galway, Ireland, one from Kaiowa, Kongo Free State, one from Manchester, England, one from Bascasdee, Toro, Panama, and four from Coplapo, Chile, S. A., and then in our own country, Nevada, Florida and California were represented by new accounts in the above period. These are, of course, outside of the large number of mail accounts received by this bank from Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, West Virginia and other nearby states.

The Pittsburgh Bank for Savings issues a very handsome booklet on the subject of Banking by Mail, which it will be pleased to furnish free of cost to any of the readers of The Gazette interested in the safe and profitable investment of their savings and surplus funds.

REV. I. S. LEE GIVES HIS SIDE OF CASE

A. M. E. Preacher Says He Has Fallen Into the Hands of Ecclesiastical Pirates.

DISCUSSES THE AVERY FUND

If the ears of Bishop W. B. Derrick, of the Third Episcopal district of the African Methodist Episcopal church did not burn last evening, it was not because the Rev. I. S. Lee did not speak of him in a sufficiently plain manner. Although the meeting was held for the express purpose of allowing the bishop or any of his friends and co-workers an opportunity to reply to what the Rev. Mr. Lee has been saying for some time, there was not a breath raised in dispute.

The meeting was held in the Fifth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Fifth avenue, near Elm street. It was attended by about 300 of the members of the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church, from which Mr. Lee was removed as pastor by Bishop Derrick. Mr. Lee stated that his removal from the Bethel pulpit and his assignment to the charge at Wheeling was due, fundamentally, to the fact that he had secured the passage of a resolution in the official board of the church providing for an audit of the Avery fund, which has been in the control of the church trustees for 40 years, and had also demanded an accounting of the Lincoln Cemetery association.

The Avery fund was left for Bethel church by Charles Avery, who was an ante-bellum friend of the negro. According to Mr. Lee the income from this source is about $4,400 a year. There has never been an audit of the accounts, Mr. Lee said, and when he took charge of the church it was $2,800 in arrears in taxes on property held in the fund. He charged that church bills were unpaid and collections did not meet expenses, although there are over 500 members in the church. The new pastor insisted on a strict account of all church moneys, and that, he said, started the trouble.

The Lincoln Cemetery association was organized 40 years ago. There were 250 shares of the stock. Bethel church bought and paid for 84 shares, in the 40 years the church has not received a cent of dividends, Mr. Lee said. The property of the cemetery association has been sold off in lots and thousands of dollars in money have been collected, but no account has ever been rendered to the church. A little over two months ago Mr. Lee had the official board of Bethel pass a resolution ordering the books of the trustees turned over to an auditing association for an audit and also demanded an accounting from the cemetery association, threatening to take the matter into court. These two things, Mr. Lee said, were the fundamental reasons for the troubles which have come on the congregation. He said:

"I charge collusion and malicious persecution. I have fallen into the hands of ecclesiastical pirates."

The seceding members of Bethel have arranged to meet regularly in the Fifth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, that congregation having removed to Murray Hill avenue and Forbes street. For the present the official board and all committees will meet at the home of Mr. Lee.

Mr. Lee has been notified by the trustees of the Bethel congregation, the new board which has been selected since this trouble, that they will demand possession of his house in Overhill street. He refuses to give it up, claiming the new board of trustees is illegally constituted and he will not recognize its authority.

TURNED BALANCE OF TRADE TO THE UNITED STATES

Speaker Cannon Tells How Republican Policies Have Affected the Commerce of the World.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, discussed the tariff question tonight before an audience which completely filled Tomlinson hall. Speaker Cannon was given an enthusiastic reception and his speech was frequently and vigorously applauded. He said in part:

Up to the time of Lincoln's first election we bought much more of the rest of the world than we sold. How did we pay for it? We sent abroad our agricultural products at comparative small prices to pay part. We sent away our gold, our silver, our railroad bonds and our municipal and state bonds. We fell in their debt and we had to pay them in our gold, either or securities. But since William McKinley was elected president the world has fallen into our debt $4,000,000,000, and this was brought about by our selling to the world $10,000,000,000 worth, while we only bought $6,000,000,000.

The police have arrested as suspects Clifford Johnson, Edward Grimes, Roy McKee and Lawrence Politi. The latter was traced to 522 Third avenue, where Hazel Morris tried to hide him from the police. She was arrested along with the man. The hospital authorities were unable to say this morning how serious Knight's injuries might prove.

TAKES A FLYER ALL BY ITSELF

Baldwin's Airship Refuses to Be Led Home by Its Attendant.

VANISHES INTO THE NIGHT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—While Capt. Baldwin of San Francisco, inventor of the "California Arrow" airship, and several assistants were returning the airship from the place it landed in St. Louis county this evening, after an unsuccessful flight to the world's fair aeronautic concourse, the lead rope was dragged from the hands of Baldwin's assistants and the craft broke loose and soared away. When last seen it was drifting rapidly in a northwestern direction.

There was a trolley line to be crossed and it was necessary to pass the prow of the craft over the trolley wire, catch the dowhanging rope and then release the rope that hung from the rear. In the darkness those manipulating the ropes miscalculated, and both the front and rear ropes were loosed at the same time.

In a twinkling the buoyant ship, from which had been taken 25 pounds of ballast, shot up and was gone. In the dim light projected by the nearest arc light the yellow balloon loomed indistinctly, but long enough to show that the light wind was carrying it toward the northwest.

Baldwin said he believed the "Arrow" would descend to the ground within an hour. The party then proceded on to the concourse, where the announcement that the airship had escaped caused general consternation among the crowd.

Capt. Baldwin has issued the following statement:

"There was not a great deal of gas in the bag and the cold atmospheric conditions due to the night should cause the gas to condense. It is useless for me to attempt to pursue the runaway until we have heard it has landed. Beyond delaying our flight scheduled for tomorrow, I do not look for any more serious results from the accident. The Arrow should land easily and, unless a high wind rises, should be none the worse for its unauthorized ascension."

Two accidents today prevented the long distance trial of the Arrow. What was to have been a speed demonstration around a prescribed quadrangle course of 15 miles, developed into a drifting exhibition, the Arrow finaly landing in a cornfield four miles west of the aeronautic concourse at the world's fair, after the motor had been twice disabled.

THOUGHT BROTHER ELKS WERE RECEPTION PARTY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW BRIGHTON, PA., Nov. 2.—Several members of the crack Lincoln club of New Brighton, which is to lead the parade proper at the Republican demonstration in Pittsburgh Saturday night, are telling of a good story on William Jennings Bryan. The incident occurred when the club was at Wheeling, W. Va., a short time ago.

A half dozen members did not go home with the club on the midnight train, but remained at the Windsor hotel. Sunday morning, clad in their long black coats and silk hats, they were standing in front of the hotel, waiting until the time of their train.

As they stood, a man of dignified bearing, whom they instantly recognized as Mr. Bryan, approached them from the station. "I see he is an Elk," said one of the Lincoln club boys. Extending his hand, Mr. Bryan gave the Elk grip to each in the party, all of whom were members of that fraternity.

As he did so the twice defeated candidate for the presidency made some remark about the grace of the city committee in sending such a delegation to meet him. Then the Lincoln club "tumbled." Bryan had taken them for the committee sent to meet him at the train.

GETS OUT OF PRISON TO CAST HIS BALLOT

Judge Jackson Unwilling That Illicit Liquor Seller Should Lose His Vote.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Nov. 2.—By order of the United States court, Thomas Hudkins will be released from jail long enough to vote at the general election next week. Hudkins came here 10 days ago from Ritchie county to hear Bryan speak. He was recognized by Deputy Marshal H. M. O'Bleness, who arrested him on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

Hudkins pleaded guilty and stood up to receive his sentence. "How long have you been in jail?" asked Judge Jackson, and the man told him. "Like all good citizens, I suppose you want to vote?" asked the judge, and Hudkins replied that he did.

"Well, sir," said Judge Jackson, "the law requires me to sentence you to jail for 30 days and I will do so, but I will direct the jailer of Wood county to release you on the afternoon of November 7 so that you may go to your home and vote. But I will require you to return to the jail on the 8th to serve out the remainder of your sentence. I do not think any American ought to be deprived of his right to vote simply because he sold a little whisky."

And the order was given to the jailer to release Hudkins in time to go home and vote.

PARKER DEFINES HIS IMPERIALISM

It Does Not Mean an Emperor at the Head of the Government.

TWO SPEECHES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—One of the most rousing receptions of the campaign was given Judge Parker tonight at Cooper Union, where he addressed a large meeting held under the auspices of the German-American Parker union. Other speakers at the meeting were Carl Schurz, George VonSkal and Sigmund Zelsler of Chicago. All of the addresses were in German except that of Judge Parker.

When we speak of the growth of an imperialistic tendency in this country we don't mean that we have, or care to have, a ruler with the title of emperor at the head of the government, or a political Constitution abolishing the republic and establishing for it a monarchy. Rome was substantially an empire before Caesar's dictatorship, and France was ruled by an imperialistic policy while Napoleon Bonaparte still called himself the citizen consul of the French republic. With us the tendency toward imperialism in our government took tangible shape when this republic assumed the power to rule over distant and alien countries and populations, not only without their consent, but distinctly against their will and when, correspondingly, the principles we had inherited from the founders of the republic gave way to ideas as to the powers of our government which differed widely from Abraham Lincoln's conception of a democracy, that it was "government of the people and by the people."

Feels Serious Anxiety.

When we annexed the Philippine island, it was done not only with complete disregard of the rights and the wishes of the people thereof—a disregard as absolute as ever characterized any of the conquests of the Roman empire or of the French empire under Napoleon—but also with a hardly less absolute disregard of the spirit of our political institutions. The annexation of the islands, and the subjection by force of the Filipinos fighting for their independence, were as different from the intention of the fathers as government by superior artillery is from government by the consent of the governed.

When we contemplate the moral effect of the policy of conquest and subjugation, as it has been carried on and is now defended by the Republican party, we cannot but feel serious anxiety as to the permanency of democratic institutions among us. The great principles proclaimed by the Declaration of Independence, that "government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed," stood substantially unquestioned among us until the imperialistic policy of conquest and arbitrary rule over the conquered was entered upon.

It was recognized as the very essence of democratic institutions. Now it is scoffed at by many of the leaders of the Republican party as "a glittering generality," that has no practical meaning and application, as baby talk, fit for the infancy of this nation, but ridiculous in its present state of power. Indeed, it is perfectly logical for them to deride and reject it if they mean to justify and maintain their policy of conquest and dominion.

Depends on Independent Vote.

Judge Parker addressed another meeting at Carnegie hall tonight, in which he said:

In the hands of the independent voter lies the balance of power, and it is well that this is so. A country deprived of the result of an election when moral issues are at stake, has sunk to a point where mere political advantage and selfish greed alone are recognized as swaying human action.

I recognize the responsibility cast upon myself and the Democratic party in receiving the support of the independent voters. And this responsibility I not only feel, but have heretofore acknowledged in public utterances. I have said, and I say again, if I be elected to the presidency I will be the president of no party in contradistinction to being the president of all the people. I have said that, to guard myself against the insidious pressure of a personal ambition, I will seek no second election to that office. I have expressed plainly and sincerely my intention, should I be elected, to do that which in my honest judgment shall redound most greatly to the peace, prosperity and security of our common country and of the inhabitants thereof.

ATKINSON SAYS PARKER'S FIGURES ARE CORRECT

Declares That the Statements of the Democratic Candidate About the Philippines Are True.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Edward Atkinson gave out the following statement today:

Since Judge Parker cited accounts compiled by me as worthy of credence which have since been pronounced incorrect, and since I have been charged by a cabinet officer with compiling them for the purpose of misleading the public, it is fit for me now to submit absolute proofs that this charge is false and that the figures which Judge Parker cited are true, and that they are symbols of facts.

In 1902, 1903 and 1904 I have published analysis of the official reports of the government in minute detail. In the river of these reports I pointed out that in five years of war and warfare the expenditure had exceeded the normal rate of the previous 20 years by $750,000,000. In the second report, October, 1905, I proved that to December of that year they would have exceeded the normal rate by $900,000,000, the sum that I had predicted would be the cost in the so-called seditious pamphlets published at the beginning of the criminal aggression upon the Philippine islands, which were taken from the United States mail without authority of law, thus giving them an immense circulation.

In July, 1904, I again extended the compilation from official statements of expenditures and appropriations to the end of the present fiscal year, June 30, 1905, proving by transcript of the official figures that the expenditures on war and warfare in excess of the normal rate for the previous 20 years, with the exclusion of every extraneous or unrepresentative item, would be $1,500,000,000. All such are the figures and facts derived from the official statements, which give a true account of the expenditures under the respective headings of civil service, army, navy, interest and pensions.

Senator Foraker at Massillon.

Windows Shattered by Explosion.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 2.—(Special.) Thousands of windows in the west end of the city were shattered by the explosion of 150 pounds of dynamite at the plant of the Carnegie Steel Company this morning. No one was injured, although entire window sashes were blown out. Various buildings about the Ohio Connecting Contractors for the new Baltimore & Ohio railroad were blasting out cinder when a blast and a charge set off too close and the boxes of dynamite caused them to explode.

Architect Hornbostel Here Today.

Henry F. Hornbostel of Palmer & Hornbostel, architects for the Carnegie technical schools, will be in Pittsburgh today. He was expected yesterday, but was delayed in his place came a representative of the firm, who looked after securing offices in Pittsburgh. Suitable quarters were found on the fifth floor of the Lewis block and it is expected these will be engaged.

Says Bell Stole Diamonds.

David G. Bell, arrested on Tuesday by Detectives Kelley and Cole, was identified at central police station last night by Detective Frank Humes of Wheeling as a man wanted there for robbery. When arrested Bell was trying to sell a $175 diamond ring for $60. Detective Humes said Bell entered the residence of F. G. Thiers at Wheeling last Saturday and stole two diamond rings and some money. He was taken back to Wheeling.

Wants Underground System.

The C. D. & P. T. Company yesterday presented in Rankin council an ordinance asking for a franchise for an underground telephone system. The same ordinance substantially has been introduced in Swissvale council and a like one will be presented to the Braddock council. The company wants an underground system in the three boroughs, which will eventually be connected with similar systems in the city and Mellvale.

MR. ROOSEVELT SURE OF VICTORY

President Confident He Will Remain in White House for Four More Years.

HIS FRIENDS ALL REASSURED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.

President Roosevelt on the eve of the election is optimistic and believes he will remain in the White House four years longer. Visitors who during the past few days have gone to the White House believing that a Republican victory was in sight and yet harboring away down in their souls a little mite of a doubt have come away smiling broader, breathing easier and with the tiny doubt entirely dispelled. The so-called "wave of Democratic sentiment" that has been reported as emanating from New York has not yet reached the White House. Confidence still reigns there.

A few days ago the president told a caller that he fully believed the Republican national ticket would be elected this year by a larger electoral vote than McKinley had four years ago. He is not the man to try to fool himself. He is too good a fighter to underestimate the strength of the enemy.

The inside Republican estimate as to New York is 60,000, and the following among those close to the president and who know the polls of the state is that the plurality will reach that figure.

No Doubt About West Virginia.

The majority from up the state is expected to be nearly up to 1900, and there is not thought to be any chance that the plurality in Greater New York will go high enough, no matter how large it may be, to overcome the tremendous vote down to the Bronx. There is no material reason, it is declared, for any important change in prospects now.

Every scrap of information that has reached the president as to West Virginia is that the state will give a Republican plurality for electors. The governorship is admitted to be not so much of a certainty for the Republicans. The Republicans know there is a normal Republican majority in that state of fully 25,000, and the reports received by the Republican state committee have been to the effect that there is absolutely no defections from Roosevelt among the rank and file of the party; on the other hand, there is a tendency to Democratic accession to the Roosevelt rank.

George M. Bowers, commissioner of fish and fisheries, called at the White House today, and on leaving said that West Virginia was as safely Republican as Ohio and Pennsylvania. All of the states that the Democrats are basing their forlorn hope upon President Roosevelt believes the Republicans will carry. He feels sure of New Jersey, Connecticut, Indiana and Wisconsin.

Thousands Going Home to Vote.

Thousands of government employes are securing leave of absence in order that they may go to their homes to vote. Secretary of State John Hay is credited to the District of Columbia and therefore does not vote. Secretary Taft, who is now engaged in active campaign work in New York state, is expected to return here next Sunday. He has arranged to cast his vote at his home in Cincinnati. Gen. Oliver, assistant secretary of war, will go to Albany, N. Y., to vote. Postmaster General Wynne will go to Philadelphia to vote. He will leave Washington Monday evening and will return the next morning after having cast his ballot to swell the Republican majority of Pennsylvania.

Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of the department of commerce and labor, left here yesterday afternoon for California, where he will cast his vote for the Republican ticket. Secretary Metcalf will make his first and only political speech of the campaign Saturday night at Reno, Nev.

Secretary Hitchcock of the interior department left last night for his home in St. Louis, where he will remain until after the election. Secretary Morton of the navy, whose home is in Chicago, and Assistant Secretary Darling, who resides in Montpelier, Vt., are not going to vote at this election, but it is not believed that their failure to do so will have any effect on the result of the election in their states, both being conceded to the Republican ticket. L. W. STRAYER.

Follows McKinley's Advice.

George B. Miller of Canton, O., came to Pittsburgh yesterday to enlist in the marine service. At one time he was in the service of President McKinley, and says the martyred president always impressed upon him to do his duty to his country. In going into the marine service Miller thinks he is best observing the injunction.

Detective and Prisoner Return.

Detective James W. Eagan returned from New York yesterday with Harry Higbee, charged by James Riley of the Hotel Schenley with offering a forged check in payment of a board bill. The officer went to New York three weeks ago to bring back his prisoner, but the requisition papers were not satisfactory and had to be amended.

Laundrymen Discuss Water Tax.

The Allegheny County Laundrymen's association met at the Hotel Henry last evening and discussed the taxes imposed on the laundrymen for city water. They claim they do not use one-fifth the water they are assessed for.

THIRTY YEARS WAR.

Peace Declared When Right Food Was Adopted.

The right food will make a man's body over completely and cure the old ills. A Danville man went through an experience showing how true this is.

"For 30 years I had been troubled with my stomach so bad at times it made me desperately sick. I had to take pills and medicine all the time, which made my stomach very weak and headaches and other miseries made life almost unendurable. Three years ago I had an attack of pain over my heart so bad my wife kept hot poultices there for two nights. Took a lot more medicine and finally got so bad I could eat nothing, at least I could eat it but would throw it up again in a few minutes. I tried several doctors but got worse all the time and had to be taken home from the store at different times. I was so sick and dizzy I could not walk a step.

"I tell you I know what it is to have a weak stomach and the strong medicines simply made matters worse.

"I kept on getting weak and poor all the time, living much of the time on a little toast and warm milk until I wasted away so that all the clerks in my store expected me to die. I tried everything in the way of diet without any success until two years ago, when I decided to give Grape-Nuts ten days' trial.

"So I started with two teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream three times a day, increasing to three teaspoonfuls, then to four, and from the very first day I commenced to improve, gaining in weight all the time as well as strength. From that time it was nothing but progress with me, for all the old troubles disappeared; I got entirely well and now weigh 190 pounds and feel as young as I did thirty years ago.

"The change in my nerves and brain is wonderful because my memory was very bad before, and I was so nervous they had to keep the children still all the time, but when brain and nerves as well as stomach got exactly the nourishment they needed from Grape-Nuts they built up strong and healthy. All of my family eat Grape-Nuts now and the children are well and remarkably sturdy on it. We eat six boxes of it every week."

STOPPED TO AVOID RIOT.

Disturbance at Republican Meeting at Dunbar Results in Several Arrests by the Police.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The first serious trouble of the campaign in Fayette county, occurred at Dunbar last night, when a Republican meeting was adjourned to avoid a riot. After adjournment a fight ensued, in which Robert McGinnis, mine foreman for the Cambria Iron Company at Dunbar, was badly hurt. This afternoon he made informations against three Dunbar men charging them with inciting a riot and one against another on the charge of assault and battery.

Small Ohio Postoffice Robbed.

LISBON, O., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The postoffice at Negley, this county, was blown open and robbed last night. The robbers afterward stole a railroad velocipede and made their escape. The building was badly shattered by dynamite, and the robbers secured at least $300 in money and stamps.

GIRL'S SECRET.

"Aunt Cassie came to visit us and she saw I was nervous, had the fidgets all the time, and she asked me many questions, and finally said, 'Why, you dear, sweet girl, it's not your temper that's bad, it's your constitution that's out of kilter. You sit right down now and write a letter to Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., tell him all your symptoms'—and so I did. It wasn't long before I had a long reply, carefully going over my case and telling me just what to do. I date my present happiness and little Cupid's return to the very day I sat down to write that letter to Dr. Pierce, for his advice was so good and his 'Favorite Prescription' worked such a complete change in me that now my former cheerfulness and good health—not to say anything of good looks—are restored to me. I have summoned Tom back to my side and we are to be married in June."

The proprietors and makers of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

It is natural that a woman who has been cured of womanly disease by "Favorite Prescription" should believe that it will cure others. It is natural too that she should recommend to other women the medicine which has cured her. It is such commendation which has made the name of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a household word for the past thirty-eight years.

ENORMOUS FEES MAY ENRICH CITY

Ordinance to Pay Allegheny Delinquent Tax Collector Salary of $2,500 Approved.

NOW WORTH $23,000 A YEAR

If the sentiment expressed yesterday by the sub-finance committee prevails in Allegheny councils, Delinquent Tax Collector Harry M. Davidson will have his annual remuneration cut from $23,000 to a salary of $2,500, and the 5 per cent penalty imposed on delinquents will go into the city treasury. This, allowing for clerical hire, stationery, etc., would enrich the city $15,000 annually and carry out a promise made by the Citizens party during the municipal fight of 1902.

The sub-committee met yesterday in the office of Comptroller Brown. Robert L. Henderson presided, and Samuel McElroy, Charles F. Kirschler, Thomas McHenry and Thomas McBride were present. John B. Henricks, who is leading Wyman's fight against the proposed change in the delinquent tax office, was absent.

The ordinance presented to councils by Mr. Henderson in July provided that the delinquent tax collector be paid a salary of $4,000 a year, and that he be allowed two clerks, whose salaries should be $100 and $75 a month respectively. An amendment offered by Mr. Henricks providing that one-half of 1 per cent be collected monthly on delinquents was voted down and the discussion of the original ordinance taken up.

Large Reward for the Collector.

Mr. Kirschler read a report showing what fees had been collected by the delinquent tax collector in five years. The fees for the years between 1898 and 1902 inclusive were as follows: 1898, $20,-771 16; 1899, $21,549 43; 1900, $21,209 63; 1901, $21,691 30; 1902, $20,364 40; the annual average fee of the delinquent tax collector being $22,779 18. Mr. Kirschler declared the position of collector of delinquent taxes was merely clerical, and for this reason the man in the office should not get four times the salary paid the directors of the departments of public safety and public works.

"A man in the office needs no ability, for he is simply a collector," said Mr. Kirschler. "We are paying $4,000 yearly to the heads of our departments, and these men have hundreds of employes and should receive their whole attention. The work of the delinquent tax collector is prepared for him in the office of the city treasurer. The latter gets a salary of $4,000. In my opinion it would not be just to pay the collector of delinquent taxes a salary equal to that paid men whose positions are superior to his."

Mr. Kirschler made a motion that the ordinance be amended to the effect that the collector get but $2,500 a year, and the motion was adopted unanimously.

Better Paid Than Pittsburgh Man.

It was brought out that the collector of delinquent taxes in Allegheny is better paid than the collector in Pittsburgh, as the latter pays office rent and turns into the city treasury 2 per cent of the 5 per cent penalty on delinquents. Mr. McHenry quoted John R. Henricks as saying on the floor of councils that after he had paid his expenses the delinquent tax collector got no more than a salary out of the office. To this Comptroller Brown replied:

"More than $22,000 in fees is taken in each year by the delinquent tax collector and if he is only getting a salary out of it, who is getting the balance of the money?"

The meeting developed a surprise in the appearance of President McElroy of common council as a firm supporter of the ordinance. McElroy led the fight against an almost similar ordinance little more than a year ago. As predicted by The Gazette at the time the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was refused a grade crossing over Grant avenue, President McElroy broke with the Wyman forces in councils and is now working against the administration. The amended bill will be before the finance committee next Monday night and a fight is certain.

Laterly, since the Japanese began running parallels and traverses and extending mines, the Russians have been constantly making sorties. They rush into the Japanese trenches and engage in ferocious struggles with the engineers and pioneers.

During September 26, the reports say, the Japanese bombarded the Russian fleet. Seven or eight shells struck Russian warships. August 30 the battleships Peresviet and Pobieda were each hit five times. The night of October 2 the Japanese continued to shell the Russian fleet, and hit the Poltava, Peresviet and Pobieda. October 12 and 13 Japanese shells set fire to the Peresviet, apparently disabling her. They also set fire to another warship, name unknown.

Ex-Councilman Heavily Fined.

SHARON, PA., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—At Mercer today Judge Miller sentenced ex-Councilman John Sharp, who pleaded guilty to selling liquor without a license, to pay a fine of $500 and undergo imprisonment of 90 days in the county jail. Clara Lawson, who was indicted for running a disorderly house, was sentenced to pay $100 and all costs in the case, which she did. She was the star witness in the Sharp alleged bribery case, but at the trial contradicted her former statement, which resulted in Sharp being acquitted.

Charge Weigher With Fraud.

James Cole, who has been employed as a weigher at the Spang-Chalfant Company's mills in Etna, was held in $300 bail for court yesterday by Justice J. L. Elsessor, the charge against him being fraud. It is alleged that during the past three months he has persistently added from 40 to 50 pounds a ton to the credit of puddlers, the latter paying him a percentage of the extra money so derived. He refuses to divulge the names of his accomplices.

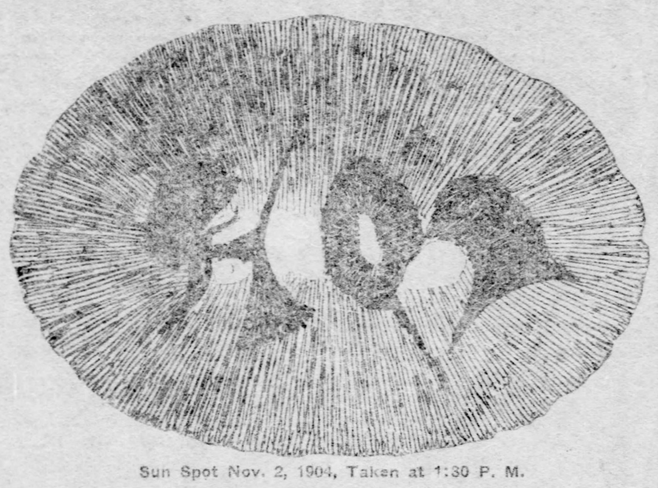
Astronomers Observing Spots on the Surface of "Old Sol"



Sun Spot Nov. 2, 1904, Taken at 1:30 P. M.

The attention of astronomers the world over is focussed just now on "Old Sol." The sun-spot period is approaching, and it is said by the observers that it is seldom the surface can be observed just now that some disturbance is not noticeable. The big telescope in Allegheny observatory is being brought into daily use by the local astronomers, and many interesting discoveries have been made. Prof. John A. Brashear is, as usual, among the most enthusiastic of the observers, and an account of what he has recently noticed on the surface of the sun is interesting. Prof. Brashear says:

"As the maximum sun-spot period approaches it is rare to find the face of the sun free from some disturbance. Observations of the sun during the past month show that there have been spots upon the surface every day. About October 8 a very large area of disturbance passed over the central meridian of the sun and a number of interesting observations were made of its wonderful changes. It has now returned to the central meridian, or very nearly so, greatly changed in appearance and surrounded with a vast field of faculae covering many millions of square miles.

"This seething mass of faculae may cause some disturbances of an electrical character upon the surface of the earth, although the central spot areas do not seem to be very active.

"The nuclei of this spot is of most peculiar shape, different from any I have ever seen, but the most interesting feature of the central nuclei is what appears to be a floating island or fiery mass, lying near its center and apparently detached from the bright mass surrounding the umbra or nuclei. Off to the northeast of this central nuclei lies a small dark streak probably a thousand miles long. This lies in the penumbral fringe, which in itself is very beautiful indeed. It would be impossible to show in a print the marvelous twists and whirls of the penumbral fringe, composed, as it no doubt is, of great fiery tongues of flame rushing from the white-hot surface into the cooler vortices, which are called the nuclei or umbra.

"So clear and sharp was the definition of this solar storm through our foggy atmosphere that the 'rice grain' surface of the sun could be seen with the greatest ease, and many areas of faculae could be seen where there were no dark spots visible.

"These so-called 'rice grains' which seem to make up almost the entire surface of the sun, are in all probability great tongues of flame intensely hot, rushing up from the interior of our great luminary.

"The picture shown here represents the appearance of a solar storm as shown at 1:30 p. m. today, November 2, but observation an hour later would have shown great changes.

"Another large spot is just leaving us on the eastern limb of the sun, but will likely return again on the western side in about 13 days, as it is of such large dimensions that it will not likely break up in so short an interval."

SITE COMMITTEE INSPECTS LOTS

Seven Locations Were Examined and Three Direct Offers Made.

MAGEE PLOT MOST POPULAR

The High school site committee spent most of yesterday inspecting the various properties offered for sale to them. Seven plots were looked over. No decision was reached, but the committee will meet tomorrow night at the High school building, in Fifth avenue, when it is expected one of the sites will be recommended to the board of education. At present the Magee site is the most favorably considered.

The Magee site, in the south side of Forbes street, at the Junction railroad and adjoining the Technical school site, originally contained 11 acres and 35 perches. It was offered to the committee for $300,000. The Junction Railroad Company some time ago condemned about two acres of the plot, of no use to the school authorities, for which it offered to pay at the rate of $20,000 an acre. Besides this there had been sold from the plot 60x100 feet, with a house on it. This would reduce the cost for the school house site to about $250,000, for about 10 acres, only $25,000 an acre, whereas no other property was offered, it is said, for less than $50,000 an acre.

Barr Bros. submitted the Dilworth and Porter properties, at Fifth and Amberson avenues. The cost of these two lots would be about $225,000. A direct tender was also made to the committee of the old Bruce ice pond in the Beechwood boulevard. The price was not announced, but the committee thought the lot too small for the purpose and it was not seriously considered. The Singer property, at Fifth and Penn avenues, Point Breeze, which was reported last week to have been bought for a Luna park site, was inspected, as well as the Mashey property adjoining. The former is worth from $200,000 to $225,000 and the latter is said to be held at about $100,000. A part of the Schenley holdings near the Blind asylum, was also inspected. The only positive tenders received were for the Magee Dilworth and Porter lots.

The members of the High school site committee are Samuel C. Jamison, John H. Mellroy, J. Ernest Roth, Charles Bradley, F. H. Klein, Robert McMillan and John F. O'Toole. The committee has not fixed any maximum price to be paid for the site, but it is thought that not over $300,000 will be invested.

The fight over the site for a new High school has broken out in a new place. The school board of the Howard subdistrict, Sixteenth ward, met last night and decided to ask the aid of all the subdistrict boards in fighting against the Magee site and for the Friendship avenue site. This latter location is in the Liberty sub-district, but lays very close to the eastern line of the Howard sub-district. At last night's meeting a letter to the other local boards, containing arguments for the Friendship park site, was prepared and the secretary instructed to sent it out at once.

COAL OFFICIALS VISIT WEST SIDE BELT MINES

President Robbins Says Lease Runs 40 Years and Cannot Be Terminated on Short Notice.

The officials of the Pittsburgh Coal Company yesterday afternoon made an inspection of the mines along the West Side Belt railroad, just leased by the coal company from the Wabash interests, as announced in The Gazette of yesterday.

It was stated by President Robbins of the Pittsburgh Coal Company that the terms of the agreement provide for a 40-year lease of the mines and that the consideration will not be made public. The agreement, he said, is not made liable to termination by either party on 30 days' notice, as reported.

The mines are at once turned over to the coal company, but it will require a little time to arrange for their operation under the direction of the big concern.

The deal turns over to the Pittsburgh Coal Company one of its largest competitors and probably the only one outside of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Company able to compete effectively with it in its own special lines. The Pittsburgh-Buffalo Company and the Pittsburgh Coal Company are on a friendly basis already.

TENNESSEE AGENT WAS OUTWITTED

Pat Dolan Prevents 75 Miners Leaving for Briar Hill Coal Company's Works.

MINE IS ON THE UNFAIR LIST

An agent of the Briar Hill Coal Company has been for the last 10 days securing miners for the company, which operates a colliery in Tennessee. The miners were told no trouble exists there, that the company would pay good wages and that transportation would be furnished for themselves and families. This was liberal, and as work in the mines about McDonald has not been plentiful for some time the agent was successful in convincing 75 miners that a prosperous future was in store for them.

The matter uppermost in the agent's mind was to get the men out of town before it became known that the Briar Hill Coal Company was on the unfair list of the United Mine workers. President Patrick Dolan of the United Mine workers resides in McDonald, and this fact made the sledding for the Tennessee agent more difficult. Andrew Davidson, a district organizer, also lives in the town, and his alertness had to be overcome. The agent was sure of his footing, however, and arranged with the Pennsylvania company to put an extra car on the Southwest limited and have the train to stop at McDonald yesterday evening. This part of the program went through as planned.

In the meantime President Dolan had been watchful. He sent a telegram yesterday to A. J. McCracken, secretary of the Tennessee United Mine workers, informing him that men were being imported to the Briar Hill company's works, and asked if the mine was on the fair list. The answer stated that Briar Hill coal miners were on strike, resenting a reduction in wages.

Then President Dolan got busy. He telephoned to McDonald and ordered Organizer Davidson to stop the miners from leaving for Tennessee. He left for his home earlier than usual to assist in persuading the miners not to leave for a district considered unfair. When he arrived at McDonald he found the trunks and personal effects of 75 miners piled upon the station platform ready for shipment.

President Dolan waited until the miners put in their appearance, dressed ready for the southern trip. Then he flashed the telegram from Secretary McCracken and told the men they should be loyal to the organization.

The men explained their dealings with the Tennessee agent and told how they had been misled. The agent is said to have offered to deposit $1,000 with a McDonald saloonkeeper if it was proved the Briar Hill Coal Company was not on the fair list.

President Dolan stood on the station platform until every miner had taken his trunk and belongings home. A few minutes later the train pulled into the station and the Tennessee agent boarded the vacant car and gave the conductor the 75 tickets intended for the miners.

TREATY WITH ITALIANS NEARING FINAL STAGE

Expected to Be Ready for Signatures Early Next Week. Hay Is Hopeful.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The French arbitration treaty, concluded yesterday, will be followed by a treaty with Italy, which it is expected will be ready for signature early next week. The French treaty, while not yet ratified by the senate and consequently not in force, is believed to be so carefully framed as to insure favorable action in the last stage. If this is so it will be the first arbitration treaty of general scope to which the United States has been a party. There have been various special arrangements, such as the Behring sea arbitration, that providing for the adjustment of the Alaskan boundary, the Venezuelan claims settlement and the like, but each and all of these were limited in operation to one subject and they expired as soon as that subject matter had been dealt with.

The only attempt at the formation of a general treaty broad enough in its terms to cover most any subject of dispute that might arise in the future was the convention drawn by Secretary Olney and Lord Pauncefote in the closing months of Cleveland's second administration, and which still slumbers unacted on in the pigeonholes of the executive office of the senate. Secretary Hay feels that the time is ripe for a renewal of the effort.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—On the call of Baron D'Estournelles de Constant a special meeting of the parliamentary group on arbitration was held today to take action on the Franco-American treaty recently signed in Washington. The following cablegram of congratulation was sent to President Roosevelt:

"The arbitration group of the French parliament congratulates you for the services you have rendered for the peace of the world by your firm support of the work of The Hague conference."

The meeting also sent its congratulations to Lord Landsdowne and Count Lamsdorff, respectively foreign ministers of Great Britain and Russia, on their reference of the Anglo-Russian dispute to arbitration.

TO RECOGNIZE PASSPORTS OF AMERICAN HEBREWS

Russia Promises That President Roosevelt's Wishes Will Be Favorably Considered.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The state department received a cablegram from the American embassy at St. Petersburg which warrants it in the assumption that the Russian government will soon agree to recognize passports of American Jews traveling in Russia.

Harsh and oppressive discrimination against American Hebrews who have visited Russia, or have sought to, has furnished the basis for a vast amount of diplomatic correspondence between Russia and the United States for 20 years. A few weeks ago the president again directed the department of state to present the matter most earnestly to the Russian government, and in obedience to his directions forceful instructions were sent to the American ambassador at St. Petersburg to lay the matter immediately before Count Lamsdorff.

According to information which came to Washington today, Count Lamsdorff has informed the American ambassador in St. Petersburg that a special commission has been instituted by supreme order under the direction of the ministry of the interior for the purpose of a general revision of the passport regulations in force. Count Lamsdorff promises that the wishes of this government, as set forth by the president, will be promptly presented with favorable and satisfactory representations.

Dr. Smith Is Recommended.

At a meeting in the Shadyside Presbyterian church last night the pulpit committee recommended to the congregation that the Rev. Dr. J. Kinsey Smith of Louisville, Ky., be extended a call to the pastorate of the church. The pulpit has been vacant since the Rev. Dr. Richard S. Holmes resigned, nearly a year ago, to go to Philadelphia as editor of the "Westminster."

This is $22,242,612 less than the war department estimates submitted a year ago, and $8,832,288 less than the total appropriations made for the war department for the current fiscal year, ending June 30, 1905.

PITTSBURGHERS ARE LIKELY TO SEE BIG COLLEGE FOOTBALL

BIG COLLEGE TEAM MAY PLAY HERE

STATE PROTESTS AGAINST POE

A Pittsburgh millionaire met Coach Mosse of Western University of Pennsylvania yesterday and volunteered to use his influence to have one of the big eastern universities play W. U. P. here next season. The Pittsburgher said that while not a W. U. P. man, he admired the course taken this year by the local university to promote athletics, and for that reason he would gladly help the good work along in any way possible.

Mosse received a positive assurance yesterday from Coach Chez of the University of West Virginia that the list of Morgantown players for the big game at Exposition park election day was mailed yesterday. There seems to be a mystery about this list. Perhaps Mosse could explain matters, but he declines to talk. It is believed that when he found that Chez had been here making inquiries about the eligibility of W. U. P. players, Mosse retaliated by popping a few questions at Chez. One of the queries, so it is said, was this: "Is it true that one West Virginia player is really in the employ of a street railway company?" Chez was shocked at this insinuation and called up on the telephone yesterday to demand proof of the charge. Mosse denied that he had made any charge and said he would not submit any evidence. Among other things Chez said that he had mailed his list of players for the Tuesday game. The letter had not arrived last night.

One of the plans of Western university is to put the management of big games in the hands of the students as much as possible. On this line the following students will have charge of the grandstand and boxes: Stone, Wells, Craig, Allen, Miller, Hutchinson, Rhoades, Zurtig, Anthony, Minerck and Scott. The last-named student will be the director.

The tickets for Tuesday's game were placed on sale at Gayley's yesterday. For the accommodation of the out-of-town enthusiasts, arrangements have been made to fill all mail orders. The plan of reserving the entire grandstand will be appreciated by the out-of-town people, as they can get good seats in advance and remain at home until nearly game time. The report that State has protested Referee Arthur Poe for an official on Thanksgiving day was confirmed today by Coach Mosse. The officials were selected before the recent State-W. & J. game. Something turned up then to sour State on Poe, and it demands a change. W. U. P. is disposed to stand by Poe because it believes that it would be an injustice to him to select another man after announcing that he would be acceptable. W. U. P. has also served notice on State that McIlveen cannot play in the game here Thanksgiving day because he was not in school continuously two weeks after the term began. He was actually playing professional baseball at the time. He did not line up against W. and J.

The disappointment yesterday was the absence of Capt. Thompson. It was expected that he would be able to practice, but the doctor would not allow him to leave the training house. McKean, who complained of feeling sick, was excused by the faculty and by Coach Mosse and allowed to go home to rest. He will return to the university Monday and will be in the game on Tuesday. Hinkey helped Mosse again yesterday.

The scene at the park was a lively one. Before time for the regular practice there was a game between two classes of the university. This attracted a crowd of nearly 500 students. At the conclusion of the game Groundkeeper Bradley cleared the field for the varsity team and subs. The practice was a good one, but Thompson was missed.

QUAKERS' GROUNDS SOLD.

Bought in by Stockholders Who Will Run the Club.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—The lease of the Philadelphia National league baseball grounds was today disposed of by the sheriff. The only bidder was R. H. Ennis, representing Arthur Newbold, trustee for the stockholders, who purchased the lease for $402. President Pulliam, of the National league, was present at the sale, but declined to say whether the franchise would be taken by the new owners or whether the club would be reorganized by the stockholders who forced the sale.

It is generally believed, however, that the latter action will be taken.

Normals Play a Stiff Game.

CALIFORNIA, PA., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—A hard practice game was played with the California Independents this afternoon, resulting in three touchdowns and one kicked goal by the Normal team. Harmon and Smith were out of the game on account of injuries received in Saturday's game with W. U. P. Grove City has sent word to Manager Roberts of the Normal team that the team will be unable to play the game scheduled with the Normals at Grove City next Saturday. California is thus left without a game for that day. An effort will be made to secure some strong athletic team from Pittsburgh.

Starter Fitzgerald Resigns.

LIVELY TIME IS LIKELY WHEN COMMISSION MEETS

Minor League's Action in Reserving Players Has Stirred Up a Lot of Trouble in Baseball.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 2.—The National association's last bulletin of reservations contains several entries calculated to arouse the ire of the national commission. The Louisville club in its list of players under reserve, not only included Harry Arndt, for whose outright release the Cincinnati club put up a bundle of coin, but also put Lee Tannehill and Pat Flaherty on its claim list.

"The national commission," said Chairman Herrmann yesterday, "handed down a ruling ordering the names of Tannehill and Flaherty from Louisville's list, and I cannot understand why they should be kept there in violation of that ruling."

Many a little wrinkle will have to be smoothed out when the commission and national board of arbitration meet, and this is one of them.

"The American association," continued the Red chief, "has adopted legislation that is, as I view it, absolutely unfair. The rule that all players purchased from one club must, in the event of their failure in fast company, revert to the club that sold their releases, is not a straight proposition. I'll cite one case for an example: We have one man for whose release we have paid $3,500. Suppose he fails. Now, I hold that I have a perfect legal right to dispose of his release as I see fit. I might be able to save only $500 on my bad investment, but I'd be entitled to that. The American association, however, has passed a law that means in effect that they get back all their discards for nothing."

The harmonica may be the popular instrument at the January conclave, but the national commissioners in the orchestra will point out a few discordant notes in the score. Chairman George Tebeau of the new national board is out with this declaration: "The minor leagues are not looking for trouble, and on the face of the returns their side of the case has not been stated. To begin with, we are not looking for any war, but are working hard to place baseball on a sound and strong foundation."

Will Have Strong Hockey Team.

The Library hockey club of the Duquesne amateur league promises to put a championship seven on the ice this season. So far 20 candidates have reported and from this array of hockey stars a winning combination will be chosen to wrest the championship honors from the Irving team, which has held the title in this league for the past two seasons. The Library team will hold a select dance at Wallace hall, Wilkinsburg, tonight, and members of other amateur hockey teams are cordially invited to attend and talk over the coming season's events.

THAT FOUL BLOW COST BRITT CHAMPIONSHIP AND CASH

When Jimmy Britt delivered that foul blow which cost him the fight with Joe Gans at San Francisco on Monday night, it not only cost him the coveted lightweight championship, but the snug sum of $5,552 40 as well.

A special from San Francisco says that the local receipts of Monday night's fight were $31,728. Of this amount the fighters received 70 per cent, or $22,200 50. As Gans received 50 per cent of this amount he drew down $11,104 80.

Britt's eye to business enabled him to force the agreement of 50 per cent in event that he lost. He drew the same amount. As Britt was to have received 75 per cent of the fighters' share of the gate receipts in event of victory, it can be seen he tossed off $5,552 40 by handing those foul punches to the negro.

Young Corbett, watched the fight with keen interest, and said: "Britt's showing has not made me afraid, and I am still open to fight him at 130 pounds at 8 o'clock. I will also fight Gans at 133 pounds at the ringside, for I am satisfied I could have knocked him out, if I had been in Britt's shoes." Jimmy Britt would not have stayed 20 rounds with me if he had fought like he did with Gans. I think Gans went down deliberately in the fourth round and also in the fifth, hoping Britt would lose his head and foul him. Gans fought well for the first two rounds, but after that he seemed to weaken. Gans was certainly not strong at the weight."

HUNDREDS OF RIDERS JOIN IN THE FOX HUNT

One Woman Was Among Those in the Chase—Many Foxes Stirred Up, but None Were Killed.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CANAL DOVER, O., Nov. 2.—The second day's chase in connection with the big fox hunt, which is being held under the auspices of the Tri-State Fox Hunters' association at Zoar this week, was very successful and furnished much sport and amusement for the participants. This morning at sunrise the party of 200 mounted men left the village and traversed a section of country on the west side of the Tuscarawas river, covering probably 2,000 acres. Altogether seven foxes were sighted this morning, but owing to the strict rules of the association, which prohibit the killing of any of the animals, none were captured.

This afternoon another part of the Zoar lands were covered, lying on the east side of the river. Only eleven dogs were taken into the chase this afternoon, and six more of the sly animals were pursued. One of these was captured alive, four of the dogs belonging to the Zoar Kennel club leading in the chase. The Zox had been followed so closely that he hid himself in the hollow of a log. This one, with all other foxes caught during the week, will be released on Friday afternoon, which now promises to be the biggest day of the meeting.

It is expected that at least 500 people will be present on Friday, as that will be made visitors' day, when people from all over this section of the state will be present.

Mrs. George Silver of Uniontown, Pa., was the only woman to ride in the chase today. She accompanied her husband on the two trips, and was one of the foremost in the hunt. Among the arrivals this evening are A. R. Perkins, Sam Strong, J. Turner and Charles Clark, of Cleveland; Al. Fleischer, of Waynesburg, Pa., and J. Walker Todd and J. E. Johnson, of Uniontown, Pa. Tomorrow will be Derby day for all dogs under 18 months of age. Two packs of hounds will be started in two different directions, and President Snyder predicts that not less than five or six captures will be made.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS.

Junior League Team Meet and the Contests Were of the Lively Order.

The basketball season in lower Allegheny was opened last night at Raleigh hall by two whirlwind games between teams of the Raleigh and Manchester leagues. A large crowd was on hand to give the youngsters a send-off and their shouts kept the players on the go throughout each game. YALE TEAM GETS A BITTER DOSE

FINE SHOWING BY TIGERS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 2.—Scored on twice by the discredited freshman eleven was the bitter dose meted out to Yale's varsity eleven today, to the disgust of the players. The scoring was accompanied by cheers from the freshman team's substitutes and their classmates, with plenty of encouragement from the varsity coaches. Others could detect believe their eyes, for the freshmen, who have not won a single game on their schedule with preparatory schools, nor scored one point all season, did what only West Point has done, and did it by rushing the ball through and around the line. The varsity backs were not in the play when the freshmen had the ball in order to give the varsity line harder work. There followed a hard half between the varsity and the college eleven, in which the latter, by taking advantage of the most inexcusable fumbling and repeated muffs of punts, nearly scored.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The Harvard football team had the hardest day's work this afternoon that had been given them this fall. In a scrimmage which lasted 22 minutes the team was driven to the limit by the coaches, and the men showed every more fight and snap than characterized the work yesterday and Monday. There was a slight improvement in both offense and defense, less fumbling and better tackling. The line-up was divided into two periods, in the first of which the varsity scored four touchdowns, and in the second varsity subs played the regulars a tie game. The varsity was held for downs twice by the subs and forced to punt a third time.

Schoenfuss, the big shot-putter, who came out Monday and played well in the subs yesterday, was promoted to the varsity today and he played a hard game at left guard. Matthews, who was a sub end on the eleven two years ago, joined the squad today. Mills was in the scrimmage for the first time since the Pennsylvania game, and Nichols got into signal practice for the first time since he banged his shoulder last week.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The Tigers indulged in very scrappy 50-minute practice this afternoon, which resulted in three touchdowns for the varsity, made on straight line plunging. During the first portion of the work the scrubs tore through the varsity defense for some very discouraging gains of as much as 15 yards, but with one of its customary rallies the team shortly knit into a solid barrier that held the gone fierce attacks of the scrubs through the rest of the scrimmage, while whenever they got possession of the ball, they hit the opposing line for brilliant gains, which kept them constantly near the scrubs' goal. The work was close and fierce with little open playing, and Shepard and Cooney did some particularly brilliant playing, making a larger part of the gains. A general shake-up in the back field placed Simons and Preiser at left and right half respectively.

WYOMING BANDITS ARE SURROUNDED BY POSSE

Buffalo Bill and His Party Hope to Get in at the Outlaws' Finish.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CODY, WYO., Nov. 2.—Several battles have been fought between the posses and the outlaws who attempted to rob the First National bank of Cody yesterday afternoon, and who murdered Cashier L. C. Middaugh. But the bandits are still at large, although their capture or death is but a matter of a few hours.

At dawn today the officers came upon the bandits in camp on the Grey Bull river, 65 miles from the scene of last evening's battle. The robbers refused to surrender, put up a hard fight, and succeeded in getting away.

The outlaws were again overtaken on Enos creek, 30 miles from Meeteetse and 80 miles from Cody, and another fight occurred. One of the bandits was wounded in the thigh, but his companions hoisted him onto his horse, and after a running fight for four miles the outlaws again got away.

A courier came into Meeteetse tonight with the news that the bandits had been surrounded in a forest on Cottonwood creek. The outlaws had been called upon to surrender, but refused to come forth. Night came on, and no attempt was made to do any shooting.

Col. Cody arrived at Cody this evening with his Indian trailers, scouts and cowboys, accompanied by a large party of English noblemen and New York clubmen. Cody will take the trail of the outlaws at once. His guests have been invited to accompany him, and some of the younger members of the party will accept.

MISS PHIPPS WEDDED TO BRADLEY MARTIN, JR.

Many Guests at Ceremony in Invernesshire Come Dressed in Highland Costume.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The wedding ceremony which made Miss Helen Phipps, daughter of Henry Phipps, the wife of Bradley Martin, Jr., took place today in the little Presbyterian church of Kilmarlity, near Beaufort castle, Lord Lovat's seat in Invernesshire, which is now occupied by Mr. Phipps. Many of the guests were clad in full highland costume. The skirl of the pipes furnished the wedding march.

Among Americans who attended the wedding were Ambassador and Mrs. Choate, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and her daughter Gladys; the earl and countess of Craven, the latter the groom's sister; Miss Gwendolin Burden, Mr. and Mrs. I. Townsend Burden and Miss Cornelia Sherman Davis.

The ceremony was performed by Archdeacon Sinclair, who came from London to officiate. After the wedding a reception was held at Beaufort castle. The wedding presents were spread out in one of the drawing rooms and were guarded by a tall, kilted highlander.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Martin went to Coombe Abbey, at Coventry, the earl of Craven's country seat. After spending a couple of weeks there they will go to Egypt. Later they will go to New York.

The bridegroom's uncle, Frederick Townsend Martin, acted as best man, and Miss Amy Phipps, the bride's sister, was the bridesmaid.

The presence of Mrs. Vanderbilt at the wedding is taken as an indication that she has taken up the family of the Pittsburgh millionaire, and will see that they are introduced into the Marlborough set in society.

Charles Emory Smith at Wheeling.

WHEELING, W. VA., Nov. 2.—Charles Emory Smith was the speaker at the largest Republican meeting of the campaign here tonight. Mr. Smith's address was received with great enthusiasm. It was devoted largely to eulogies of McKinley and Roosevelt, and the latter's election he declared to be absolutely assured unless the Republicans become over-confident and careless.

GALEN H

SOCIETY

UNDER the soft, warm glow of many red-shaded lights and surrounded only by their relatives and most intimate friends, Miss Martina Dalzell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis V. Dalzell, and William Booth Trainer were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in Ridge avenue, Allegheny. Five o'clock was the hour set for the ceremony, at which an uncle of the bride, the Rev. Dr. William J. Holland, officiated. Miss Adelaide Jones, the bride's cousin, was her only attendant, and Mr. Trainer had as his best man, his brother, David Trainer of New York. Mr. Dalzell gave his daughter away. Although the ceremony was very quietly conducted, it was followed half an hour later by a large reception, to which many of the friends of the bride and bridegroom in both cities were invited. The bridal robe was exquisitely fashioned of white liberty satin, daintily trimmed with rose point lace. The veil was also of rose point and was fastened with orange blossoms. The bride carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, white orchids and gardenias, while her little flower girl, in a simple white lace-trimmed frock, carried a basket of Madame Chatenay roses. The porch at the front of the house was enclosed for the occasion and the walls of this temporary smoking room were covered with smilax. American Beauty roses with ferns massed the mantle in the hall, another large rustic basket of the brilliant flowers hanging in the arch of the window. Smilax was festooned all the way up the staircase, huge bunches of white chrysanthemums being placed on the landings. In the hall on the porch and in the drawing room where the ceremony was performed the lights were shaded in deep scarlet, and in contrast to them and the walls of a corresponding shade were the immense white chrysanthemums with which the drawing room mantle was banked. Deliciously shaded pink roses were used on the supper tables, each seating six guests, which were placed in the dining room. The bridal table occupied the library on the second floor, and in its center was a beautiful mound of white roses. At it were seated the bride and bridegroom, the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Trainer of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Marshall Bell, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Poe, Mrs. Burrows Sloan of Philadelphia, Mrs. John U. Hussey, Mr. and Mrs. George Forbes of Chicago, Miss Emily Roebling of Trenton, N. J., Miss Marian Chambers, Miss Margaretta Wood, Miss Edna Johnson, Miss Adelaide Jones, John Reilly of Philadelphia, George S. Oliver, A. Blaine Robinson, James Breeze of Trenton, N. J., and Robert Pitcairn, Jr. The gifts, including a dazzling array of cut glass, silver, china and pictures, were arranged in one of the rooms on the third floor. At the conclusion of their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Trainer will be at home in the Hotel Schenley for a time, and later will go to housekeeping. No at home days have been announced.

Vincent-Orr.

There were 10 friends of the bride and bridegroom seated at the bridal table at the supper following the wedding of Miss Lyda Young Vincent and Almer Hamilton Orr last evening. The Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony at 6:30 o'clock. The attendants included Miss Marie Vincent, a sister of the bride, and Arthur Bell Orr, a brother of the bridegroom. The bride's father, Reed M Vincent, gave her away, and at the large reception which followed the ceremony at 8 o'clock Mrs. Vincent received with her son-in-law and daughter. The guests at the bridal table included Miss Marie Vincent, Miss Anna Orr, Miss Jeannette Grove, Miss Irene Succop, Miss Ethel Craig, William Fihal, Arthur Orr, Charles Succop, Acheson Smith and Harry Miller. The bride's gown was of soft white satin and point lace, and carried blossoms fashioned her veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor was in embroidered chiffon and carried American Beauty roses. Mrs. Vincent wore gray silk. The home of the bride's father in North Highland avenue where the wedding took place was beautifully decorated, chrysanthemums being used through the different rooms. White chrysanthemums on very high wicker standards flanked each side of the background of palms in the drawing room, and the library was decorated in yellow. Lavendar was used in the dining room, while on the bride's table were white chrysanthemums, the same flowers being massed on the chandelier. The room where the wedding presents were shown was especially dainty, all the lights being covered with white chrysanthemums and blue satin ribbons.

After a wedding journey to California, Mr. and Mrs. Orr will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. Vincent until spring, when they expect to go to housekeeping. At home days after December 15 have been announced.

STOCK MARKET ADVANCED, CLOSINC AT THE TOP

Copper, Steel Preferred and Erie Were Leaders in the Movement—Pittsburgh Coal Preferred Closed at the Highest This Year.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The war clouds in Europe had disappeared before the opening of the stock market yesterday, and while English consols were fractionally lower, and Paris and Berlin were reported to be heavy sellers of international stocks in London, the latter sent higher quotations for American stocks, and the New York market responded. Almost from start to finish the market was strong and fairly active, but there was an absence of the excitement which has marked recent dealings.

Amalgamated Copper was one of the strongest of the industrials and advanced to 74¼, the highest on this movement. Wall street was inclined to take some stock in the report that negotiations were on foot to remove the long-standing friction among the copper interests in Montana, but a more substantial basis for the rise, which also extended to Anaconda Copper, was the further advance in the price of the metal and the scramble among consumers for supplies. The official figures on exports for October placed the amount at 26,335 tons, and since the first of January at 205,644 tons, as compared with 197,981 tons for the corresponding period last year. Not only has the war in the orient reduced production in Japan, but it has stimulated the demand all over the world, and the basis for the appreciation in copper stocks generally appears to be legitimate. In the Boston market copper stocks were buoyant, and Calumet & Hecla closed at 610 bid, after selling at 595.

Sugar and Steel stocks were also active and strong and closed at or near the top. There is a growing impression that a scrip dividend or a readjustment of the capital of Sugar will be among the developments of the not distant future, and the stock market yesterday rallied to 145⅝. United States Steel preferred rallied to and closed at 82⅝, a net gain for the day of 1¼ per cent. All the reports relating to the industry were favorable, conspicuous among them being the scarcity of pig iron, the strength in which warrants firm prices for finished products if not a further advance. United States Leather common gave one of its periodic displays of activity and strength, advancing 2¼ per cent to 14⅛ and closing at a net gain of 1⅞ per cent. American Smelting common advanced from 71⅝ to 74½, the movement being accompanied by rumors of an increased dividend.

Erie was the most active of the railroad list and was heavily bought by prominent commission houses, which suggested that there might be some foundation for the numerous stories of deals in which Erie will take a prominent part. Pennsylvania rallied to 147¼ and closed at a net advance of 1¼ per cent. The statement of earnings for September was looked upon as furnishing all the evidence desired that the great system was now in a position to operate more economically, and holding out the promise that when the volume of gross earnings is restored to the maximum of last year, the net will show a corresponding increase and assure the permanence of the present rate of dividend. Baltimore & Ohio and Reading also closed higher, Rock Island common was one of the most active of the grangers' list and showed the largest advance at the close, St. Paul, Atchison and Southern Pacific each closed ½ higher and Union Pacific ⅛ higher.

All the traction stocks closed higher, with Metropolitan Street Railway leading the upward movement. There was a rumor that a prominent New York trust company had paid par for a controlling interest in Metropolitan Securities and for the holdings of some of the other large stockholders, but the report did not exert any particular influence upon the stock.

Early in the day it was announced that the National City bank would ship $2,000,000 gold coin to Cuba on Saturday, but there were no engagements for export to Europe, and the subsequent drop in sterling exchange rates seemed to put further gold exports out of the question for the present at least. Call loan rates ruled unchanged at 2@2½ per cent, the last loan being at 2¼ per cent.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred again furnished a large part of the business on the local exchange and late in the day advanced 10 and closed at 74¾, the highest price of the year. The official announcement was made that the lease of the Wabash mines was for a term of 40 years, assuring the control of the local situation to the Pittsburgh Coal Company. The common stock was inactive and closed a shade lower at 18¾. United States Steel stocks were moderately active and closed strong and higher. Manufacturers Light and Heat was heavy, declining to and closing at 38¼. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas, which was listed during the day and made its first official appearance on the board, sold at 72, a slight advance over recently reported "curb" sales. A small lot of Westinghouse Air Brake sold at 140, an advance of $5 a share over the last previous sale. Electric rallied to 85 and closed at 84¾ bid. American Sewer Pipe declined to 22, but recovered a small fraction at the close.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred, at yesterday's closing price of 74¾, represents a recovery from the low price touched last January of $29.75 a share. Within that period there has been paid dividends amounting to $6.25 a share, so that the buyer of the stock at the low price of the year has today a profit, including dividends, of $35 a share. The official announcement that the Wabash mines have been leased for a period of 40 years, thereby assuring control of the situation to the Pittsburgh company, and the reported advance in the price of coal in western and northwestern markets, were factors in the strength of the market yesterday. Whitney, Stephenson & Co. were the largest buyers of the preferred stock on the local board.

The first official quotations on Pittsburgh Oil & Gas were made yesterday, when 100 shares were posted at 72 and that price was bid at the close. The stock of the company has been listed on the exchange, and it is expected that this will become an active feature of the market. A very complete statement was filed with the listing committee relating to the company's business and finances. It cost the company 54 cents a barrel to produce oil during the 12 months ended March 31, and 732,056 barrels were produced. During the year 2,899 new meters were installed. The average number of consumers on the lines during the 12 months was 16,221, and the increase during the last three months was 381, per cent. The company was incorporated in Delaware and the stockholders authorized an issue of $2,600,000 gold bonds and these will be used in redeeming outstanding bonds and caring for a floating indebtedness, which amounts to $1,250,832. For the year ended March 31, the gross earnings were $1,767,194. Net earnings were $855,882, and after the payment of interest on bonds amounting to $80,000, depreciation and dividends, there remained a surplus of $476,595. Dividends at the rate of 8 per cent are paid on the stock. The bonds of the company were not listed. The Colonial Trust Company registers the stock and the First National Bank of Pittsburgh is the transfer agent. The officers are: T. N. Barnsdall, president; E. F. Whitcomb, vice president; D. Robertson, secretary and treasurer. Directors are: T. N. Barnsdall, E. F. Whitcomb, William Barnsdall, John S. Scully, F. H. Spelding, R. C. Hall, A. B. Baxter, A. W. Lewis and William Messimer.

The stock and bonds of the Berlin Water Company of Somerset county have been listed on the Pittsburgh stock exchange. The company was incorporated in 1901 and has a capital stock of 1,600 shares of a par value of $100 each. It also has an outstanding bond issue of $50,000. The bonds are 50-year 5 per cents, and are payable at any interest period at par and 5 per cent after July 1, 1908. They mature in 1955. The principal office of the company is in Pittsburgh and stock is registered at the South Side Trust Company. The company is serving a population of 2,000. During the first year all fixed charges were earned. The revenue exceeds $3,000 a year and interest charges amount to $2,500. The company operates its plant on the gravity system. O. F. Sharp is president and William H. Allen secretary and treasurer.

Chairman Chaplin reports sales of 357,892 shares on the Pittsburgh stock exchange in October, compared with 474,024 shares in October, 1903, and 190,489 shares in September, 1904.

The Pittsburgh stock exchange membership of Asa P. Davis of the bankrupt firm of Davis, Hazlett & Co., will be sold at public auction on November 11 at 3 p. m. at the stock exchange.

The Second National Bank of Pittsburgh has declared dividend No. 85, being 7½ per cent out of the profits of the past three months, payable forthwith.

The Bank of Pittsburgh (National Association) has declared a quarterly dividend of 3 per cent, payable forthwith.

The Pittsburgh Reduction Company has declared a common stock dividend of 100 per cent, payable November 3. On October 20 the company increased its capital from $1,600,000 to $3,800,000. The remaining stock will be sold to preferred and common stockholders at par, payment for which is to be made on November 15 and January 15.

The Monongahela City Trust Company of Monongahela City will hereafter clear through the Fort Pitt National bank.

Fidelity Title and Trust stock yesterday sold at 470, an advance of $20 a share. The fiscal year of the company just ended, shows net earnings of $566,814.37. After the payment of the year's dividends of $320,000, or 16 per cent on the $2,000,000 capital, the sum of $185,814.37 has been carried to undivided profits, making the total undivided profits now $1,478,818.68, all earned, in addition to the $3,000,000 surplus. During the year the Fidelity's deposits increased over $1,000,000, to $7,311,000. The total of funds in the trust department increased about $3,000,000 during the year, bringing the total up to $30,977,000. The total figures for the banking and trust departments together are over $50,000,000.

A private sale of 20 shares Home Trust at 121 was reported after the close of the local call yesterday.

Quotations on unlisted securities included 135 bid for Firth-Sterling Steel; 108 bid for West Side Belt 5s, and 99 and interest bid for Pittsburgh Terminal Railway and Coal 5s.

The New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk, which this week declared an extra dividend of 2 per cent, in addition to the regular 3 per cent semi-annual dividend, is now one of the largest dividend payers among the independent railroads of the country.

The month of October was the third largest in the history of the New York stock exchange as regards share transactions, sales aggregating 32,410,056 shares. The record month was April, 1901, when 41,688,897 shares were traded in. In the month following, which included the record 3,000,000-share day, total sales amounted to 38,199,736 shares.

For the September quarter the gross earnings of Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh decreased $41,388, and net earnings decreased $104,165.

Net earnings of Southern Railway for September increased $164,254.

The Rock Island system net earnings for September show an increase of $210,000, and from July 1, a net decrease of $621,000 is reported. Frisco system net earnings for September increased $37,000, and from July 1, increased $401,000. Wisconsin Central for October reports an increase of $10,000 in gross earnings. Norfolk & Western surplus for September increased $31,475.

Commercial failures during October, according to reports to R. G. Dun & Co., numbered 885, having liabilities of $10,525,728. This is a striking improvement as compared with the corresponding month last year, when there were 1,088 defaults with liabilities of $18,387,867. Banking suspensions numbered seven and involved $342,600, a most gratifying improvement over the 21 failures for $1,084,638 in the same month last year. Comparisons with the same month in 1903 for both commercial and banking failures showes a decline of 18.2 per cent in number and 65.5 in amount of defaulted indebtedness.

The Jacob Field brokers were reported to be covering shorts in St. Paul and Steel preferred, but were said to have been rather heavy sellers of Steel common. A good deal of capital was made of the Burlington orders for steel rails and bridge material throughout the forenoon, and both Steel preferred and common benefited. It looked as if the advance stock ought to protect the market last week and on Monday came out on this strength.

The Pennsylvania railroad monthly reports make at best only a partial exhibit of the company's affairs and not exactly such an exhibit as the directors have before them. The reports for the first three quarters of the year show a loss in the net earnings of $2,581,600. If the company has lost $7,000,000 more in net earnings it would still have fully earned the 6 per cent dividend on the stock. In the last month of the third quarter there was a decrease in gross earnings, but a reduction of $350,000 in expenses made an increase of $267,000 in net earnings. This increase is about equal to the decrease per month for the nine months of the present year. It is expected that the last quarter of this year will show a further improvement in gross earnings and a considerable reduction in expenses as compared with 1903 is probable. The loss in net earnings for the year, if present expectations are realized, will not be important.

Official prices of refined copper have been again advanced ⅛c a pound. Lake copper is now 14½c and Electrolytic 14c. There is a small panic among the consumers in this country and during the last week there has been a rush to buy. There is good authority for the statement that producers will make a further advance this week. Copper prices are now higher than they have been at any time in considerably over a year.

Erie was the feature of the railroad list, and the only news to explain the advance was a report that a sale of a block of several millions of its convertible bonds had been effected. There was no official sanction for this report, but rumors were circulated of the extensive betterments on which the proceeds of the bond sale would be immediately laid out. The earnings were also said to be improving fast. The reported Erie projects were a help to United States Steel, as were the reports of large buying of steel products.

In New York, United States Government 3s, 4s and new 4s declined ½ per cent, and the old 4s ½ per cent on call.

THE MONEY MARKET.

The local money market is steady and unchanged at 5@6 per cent on call and time loans. Clearing house comparisons:

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Money was in good demand in the market today, in connection with repayments to the Bank of England which will continue until Friday. The supply was fairly large and rates were rather easier. Discounts were steady. There was much caution owing to the uncertainties of the immediate future, and partly regarding the continental demand for gold. Trading on the stock exchange had a weaker tendency after yesterday's disturbing rumors, and the continued political and monetary uncertainty. Consols were dull and home rails were flat. Americans opened weak, recovered fractionally to above parity, became active in certain directions and reacted. The dealings were mostly professional and prices closed quietly, steady. Foreigners generally were lower, Japanese losing an early improvement. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 91½. Consols for money, 87⅝. Consols for account, 87 13-16. Bar silver, 26⅞. Money, 1½@2 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2⅝@2⅝ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three months-bills is 2⅝@2⅞ per cent.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Business on the bourse today opened with a firm tone, but subsequently the market became feeble. Internationals were depressed, owing to the fears of an advance in the rate of discount in London. At the close the market was heavy. Russian Imperial 4s were quoted at 92.90, and Russian bonds of 1904 at 89.50. Three per cent rentes, 98 francs 10 centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 12 centimes for checks.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—Trading on the boerse today opened with a waiting tendency. Later prices became firm. Exchange on London, 20 marks 35¾ pfennigs for checks. Discount rates: Short bills, 4⅝ per cent; three months' bills, 4¼ per cent.

Banks and the Treasury.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(Special.)—In redemption of checks drawn by depositors of gold at the San Francisco and Seattle assay offices, today's official records show that the subtreasury paid out yesterday $117,715. Total payment by government to New York banks for the day, $3,621,000. Payment by banks to government, $3,135,000. Balance on the day's transactions, $486,000 paid by government to banks. Total net payment by bank to government since Friday, $4,059,000, against $1,281,000 similarly paid for the corresponding period a week ago and $3,460,000 paid by government to banks a year ago.

Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption, shows: Available cash balance, $144,862,562; gold, $82,391,020; silver, $8,647,478; United States notes, $4,363,675; treasury notes of 1890, $62,967; national bank notes, $11,377,593; total receipts this day, $2,011,263; total receipts this month, $3,909,737; total receipts this year, $190,328,808; total expenditures this day, $2,150,000; total expenditures this month, $4,270,000; total expenditures this year, $213,164,190; deposits in national banks, $119,365,422.

STOCKS RECOVERED ALL ALONG THE LINE

Some Issues Were Also Advanced Sharply in the Wall Street Market.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says:

Under the combined influence of aggressive manipulation and professional speculative buying, shorts were forced to cover yesterday. Stocks recovered all along the line and some issues were advanced sharply. The business of the day was rather poorly distributed, with activity centering upon the blind pool issues and the low grade properties.

The outcome of these was successful, and the aggressive and determined character of the manipulation forced covering in numerous issues, simply by force of example. Public sentiment seemed somewhat uncertain, and many leaders were disinclined to participate in the speculation so close to the election with its various uncertainties. This feeling of inaction resulted in a diminished volume of business.

The market of yesterday could at no time have been called dull, but there was less enthusiasm in the trading than of late, possibly because some active traders had been caught on the short side and forced to disgorge some profits accumulated in recent bull operations, and also because of the poorer distribution of business. It became quite monotonous to see so much of the work confined to a handful of issues and the great balance of the list almost entirely neglected.

London prices came higher, and the market opened active and strong, with sharp advances in some of the specialties. Upon the initial advances some liquidation appeared, and the market turned heavy, except for the manipulated favorites. The persistence with which the professional work continued, however, influenced covering operations before the close.

YOUNG ADAMS IN TROUBLE.

Son of "Policy King" Sentenced to Workhouse for Raising a Disturbance.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Under sentence of six months' imprisonment in the workhouse, the young man who raised a disturbance and flourished a pistol in the offices of Al Adams, the former policy king, admitted this afternoon in his cell in the Jefferson Market court prison that he is Louis B. Adams, son of Al Adams, the millionaire recently released from Sing Sing.

"I don't know why I am in prison. I don't even know the full charge. I might have been intoxicated last night, and when the judge asked me if I was guilty I said 'yes,' without thinking what I was doing."

There was great excitement last night in the offices of Al Adams and shouts of "police" and "Don't shoot your father." Policeman Colyer, who rushed in, found the young man pointing a pistol at an elder man's head, while a third struggled with the youth.

Meeting Postponed.

This is the day for a regular monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce, but as it is known that many members of the association desire to attend Founder's day exercises at the Pittsburgh Carnegie institute this afternoon it has been decided to postpone the meeting until next Monday at 2:30 o'clock. At that time amendments to the chamber's charter and constitution will be presented and a full attendance is desired.

Will Be Shown Great Steel Plant.

Gov. Pennypacker will be the recipient of attentions upon his arrival in Braddock this morning. The governor will be met at the station by Charles E. Dinkey, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, and during the day will be shown through the Edgar Thomson steel plant. In the evening he will be the guest of honor at a dinner given at the home of President Dinkey, in North Braddock.

Tit for Tat, Says Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—Russia probably will ignore the Japanese protest regarding Russian troops wearing Chinese clothes, as Japan did in the case of the Russian protest in regard to the Ryeshitelni.

PIG IRON PRICES LARGEST OF YEAR

COKE QUOTATIONS ALSO HIGH

Higher quotations for pig iron and coke are made this week than have been seen so far this year. Bessemer pig iron is quoted at $14, at the valley furnaces, and No. 2 foundry iron at the same price. For grey forge $13 00 to $13 25, Pittsburgh, is asked.

These prices are being obtained, it is said, for both spot iron and on some contracts for delivery in the first quarter of the coming year.

Coke prices, affected by the lack of water in the Connellsville region, are mounting steadily. Spot furnace coke is in demand at prices ranging from $2 00 to $2 15 and some good business has been done, it is stated, at the latter price.

Foundry coke is very active at $2 50 for the best grades of the Connellsville product. The purchase of the output of the Oliver ovens for the coming year by the United States Steel Corporation has removed from the market an important interest and this has added to the activity on the part of the independent consumers in covering their wants for the coming year. Some large contracts are being made. Spot coke is not quite so active.

One of the best indications of the improvement in the finished lines is the horizontal increase of $2 a ton in merchant pipe. This was announced this week by the National Tube Company and is the second stiff advance in two weeks.

The activity in the wire trade, which resulted from the reduction of prices a couple of months ago, has continued and the sheet mills are also busy. The bar trade is active. One of the interesting announcements in the plate makers was that the Standard Steel Car Company of Pittsburgh has perfected its plans for building all-steel postal, baggage and express cars and that steel day coaches are a possibility in the near future. This will mean a new market for steel plates, comparable only to that created by the manufacture of steel freight cars. The plans of the Standard cars are far advanced and it is very likely the first completed car will be turned over to the Erie railroad for service. Others are building for other railroads.

It was announced also that the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company has completed plans for building [illegible] furnaces with a capacity equal to that of the Eliza group and with such modifications in structure as to overcome the "fore dust nuisance."

The Hardware Market.

The hardware business continues much the same as at the last report, orders coming in freely from salesmen and the trade generally, these orders including nice lines of season goods and good stocks of general lines. Prospects for fall business are being realized and indications now point to a very heavy trade. Prices seem inclined to soar upward, so that the buyer who buys now will possibly gain considerably in the matter of added profits, manufacturers evidently holding to the belief that higher prices will be seen in a short time. The Bindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 a dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 to 10 per cent; sheet iron, base, $2.5. $2 35 the 100 for galvanized sheet iron, discount, 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights, a ton, $27; window glass, L. CONSUMERS ARE MAKING SCRAMBLE FOR PIG IRON

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

The very great change which has come over the iron market during the past month seems to make it necessary to guard against the use of extravagant expressions in referring to the condition of trade. Reports from all consuming centers indicate a scramble for pig iron. Commitments unused still sell a very large quantity of pig iron for delivery far into next year if the furnace companies would permit them to do so. The quantity of iron purchased since the buying movement began has been so large as to put the furnace companies into an independent position and they are not disposed to sell too far ahead, believing that the strength of the market will continue, and by holding off they will be able to get higher prices. Conservatism is being preached and in every direction the danger of marking prices up too rapidly is pointed out, but the opportunity to get higher prices is very tempting.

The improvement which started with pig iron is working its way steadily into other lines. Consumers are now paying a premium of 50 cents to $1 a ton on billets and sheet bars over the agreed price. The buying of tubes and wire is phenomenal, while sheets also are very strong. A further decided improvement has occurred in plates and structural material. The movement in structural material has been somewhat slow, but is now showing a much better condition.

The steel rail trade is looking up. The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has placed an order with the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company for 50,000 tons for delivery next year. The Tennessee company is not a member of the Rail association, but is co-operating closely with it. The fact is not published, but it is believed that this contract has been taken subject to the same holding may be made by the associated rail makers. No time has yet been announced for the rail meeting, but this is not regarded with so keen an interest as some time since, because every day now strengthens the situation, and if any reduction in the price of rails is made it is more likely to be done as a matter of policy than of necessity. While the mills in the association are not booking large orders, so far as can be ascertained, they are receiving numerous small orders. Light rails, which were selling at very low prices recently under the stress of sharp competition, have scored a moderate advance, as the mills are much better supplied with work.

The tube manufacturers have made another advance of $2 a ton on merchant pipe, effective November 1. This is the second advance of $2 a ton in two weeks.

Old material is rising in price in sympathy with the upward movement in pig iron. A particularly sharp advance has been made in old iron rails. Consumers are alarmed by the higher prices being asked on scrap material, as costs of production are thereby raised, while they fear it may be difficult to secure anything like a corresponding advance in the price of the finished product.

FLOUR PROMISES SHARP ADVANCE IN NEAR FUTURE

Local Dealers Anticipate Heavy Rise to Meet Minneapolis Millers' Price.

Every line in the local markets complained of dullness yesterday, and Liberty street merchants claimed they were only doing business in an accommodation to the general public. At no time during the entire day did business take on its usual Wednesday bustle, and there was an air of listlessness about the market all day long.

Flour will undoubtedly move up sharply this week. The Minneapolis millers announce a price of $4 45 a barrel. Local merchants are selling it at $4 30 and $4 55 a barrel, which leaves no margin of profit after paying the freight from the mills to Pittsburgh. There is no doubt that a decided advance in flour is certain for Pittsburgh and vicinity within a few days.

To the surprise of all, the coffee market has not felt the eastern advances. It has been expected that increases in the east would have had their effect in the local trade long before this, but the commodity has so far refused to follow up.

Produce lines were exceedingly dull yesterday, the merchants along the streets reporting scarcely anything doing in that line. The appearance of the street was decidedly different to most Wednesdays, which is ordinarily a busy day with the dealers. Prices remained the same and there was not a single change to note in any line.

Receipts of fruit and produce yesterday were very light, although there are generous stocks on hand of all kinds. The receipts reported yesterday were: Apples, 4 cars, making 65; cabbage, 1, making 45; grapes, 1, making 41; oranges, 1, making 4; pears, 8, making 9; sweet potatoes, 3, making 21.

HAY AND GRAIN.

RECEIPTS.

Receipts of hay and grain in the local yards yesterday were as follows: Baltimore & Ohio, 6 cars oats, 22 cars hay, 2 cars corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 11 cars hay, 1 car straw; Pennsylvania lines, 98 cars hay, 4 cars oats.

Light receipts in all lines of hay, grain and feed yesterday steadied a market which was otherwise inclined to sag heavily. The heavy receipts early and at the day before had a tendency to upset prices a little, but these steadied up yesterday and a fair day's business was done at the quotations of the day before. Hay is still in good demand for the best, and lower grades are compelled to hunt a market.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Harrison and Seaver, operating under lease the famous W. P. H. property on Ironclad hill, Cripple Creek, are making a larger tonnage than ever before. The large vein which they are working between the 200 and 300-foot levels is now measuring 38 feet across and every bit of rock hoisted is shipped, all returning values of from three to five ounces to the ton. This property is making such a wonderful production at this time that it is clearing for the lessees in the neighborhood of $50,000 a month and all those interested are becoming wealthy.

The recent find made in the 400-foot level of the Old Gold is showing six feet of ore that will average $50 to the ton.

An examination of the Prize mine in the Nevadaville district, has been made by experts in the interests of the Guggenheim mining syndicate. The main shaft is down about 700 feet and in its last record the property has made several fortunes for its operators, but has been idle for a number of years.

A 12-inch ore streak, running $218 in gold, has been opened at a depth of 280 feet in the Badger mine at Turret. The vein is gradually widening with depth. This property has four feet of milling ore and gives promise of becoming a rich producer. Smelter returns were received today from a carload shipment by the Gold King mine, in the same district, giving $30 a ton. This property is taking out pay ore and is owned by the Par Value Mining Company of Pittsburgh.

The operations being carried forward through the Lowell shaft of the Portland mine are getting more extensive each day and, situated as it is, off from the main system of veins, the work is being watched with considerable interest. Through these workings the company is hoisting and shipping a good tonnage of ore each month. The ore is being followed on the dip.

*Bid. †Asked.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The copper market, led by Amalgamated, continued strong and active. There is still considerable selling by people who have carried coppers for a long time and now see a chance to get out with a profit, but these stocks are being steadily absorbed by new buyers and prices are getting stronger each day. Parrott climbed up 2 points higher in sympathy with Amalgamated. Old Dominion at the same time gaining 2. U. S. Mining was heavily sold by a house with Salt Lake connections, amounting in all to about 7,000 shares, one house taking about 3,500, the rest of the buying being scattered. Massachusetts mining seems to be in good hands and the floating supply of stocks in nothing very small. One house bought 1,000 shares Atlantic at 17 and it would not be a surprise to see it sell higher. There are about 2,000 shares Allouez offered at 15, and as soon as this is out of the way Allouez ought to advance. A small amount of Calumet offered at 600 was soon taken, and the stock closed at 610 bid.

TWO LARGE DEALS IN PENN AVENUE

J. Frederic Byers Buys 623-625 for $285,000—S. M. Willock Pays $70,000 for 626.

WATER STREET HOUSES SOLD

A spurt of old-time activity in real estate was clearly evident in the market yesterday. The largest deal announced was made by J. H. Goehring through the Home Trust Company. For William H. Stevenson Mr. Goehring sold to J. Frederic Byers the property at 623-625 Penn avenue for $285,000. The lot measures 40x120 feet and is located at the northeast corner of Penn avenue and Barkers alley. It was part of the estate of the late James W. Arrott, and was bought May 1, 1903, by Mr. Stevenson for $285,000. This sale, therefore, gets the former owner a clear profit of $85,000 on 18 months' ownership. At the price paid this time the property figures at the rate of $7,125 a front foot or $59.38 a square foot. At this figure even it is considered a good investment, as the annual rental makes a clear revenue of over 5 per cent net. The lot is improved with a seven-story and brick fireproof building occupied by the Michigan Furniture Company, which has a three years' lease dating from April 1 next. The deal is the largest transfer of Penn Avenue property since the sale of the Second Presbyterian church property to Herbert DuPuy for $600,000, which was also made by Mr. Goehring, as well as the sale to Samuel Hamilton of property on the opposite corner of Penn avenue and Barkers alley for $175,000, this lot having been sold to Dr. R. H. M. McKenzie for $225,000. An interesting point about the Stevenson deal is that there was a sharp competition between two buyers at the close for the property, and that Mr. Byers, who finally secured it, is a new investor in the downtown field.

Paid $70,000 for No. 626.

Another good Penn avenue transaction, made known yesterday, was the sale through the office of Samuel W. Black & Co. of 626, owned by George B. Barrett, and sold to S. M. Willock for a price approximating $70,000. The lot is 20x80 feet on the south side of the avenue, near Seventh street, and is improved with a three-story brick building occupied mostly by doctors' offices. The present deal figures at $3,500 a front foot, or about $58 a square foot. Mr. Barrett bought the lot from Dr. R. H. M. McKenzie for $70,000, but the transaction was on a trade basis, so that he gets a tidy profit by the present deal.

It is a little curious to note the tendency of realty investors to go after Penn avenue properties at this time. Recent offers made for properties in both Penn and Liberty avenues from Seventh street toward the Union station indicate that there is a decided belief in the minds of well-posted brokers and buyers that they are a good "buy." The prospects of a rapid enhancement in values in Liverty avenue when the Pennsylvania railroad tracks are removed are becoming more promising every month, and owners of good corner lots are steadily putting up their asking prices.

Profitable Deal in Water Street.

Cecilia Triplett has sold to a prominent downtown business man 507-509 Water street, opposite the Baltimore & Ohio railroad freight station, for $30,000. The property has a frontage of 45 feet between Grant and Ross streets and a depth of only 50 feet, making the price $666 a front foot or $13.33 a square foot. Two old brick houses on the site rent for about $250 a month, it is said. In part payment for this property there was tendered 418-420 Emerson street, between Howe and Walnut streets, Twentieth ward, which was valued at $15,000. This property consists of 60x80 feet, improved with two double brick houses which rent for $30 a month each. It was formerly a part of the Woodwell holdings. The deal is credited to the Union Realty Company.

The Manor Real Estate and Trust Company, a busing corporation for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, has added to the latter's holdings in the Twenty-first ward by the purchase from Emma Hague of two plots adjoining the R. B. King holdings. One lot is 164x225 feet and fronts in Saxon alley. The other property, adjoining, is 493x413 feet. The price paid was $17,150.

Mary T. Bradley has bought from Oliver J. Parker a residence property, 65x100 feet, at the northwest corner of Howe street and South Negley avenue, Twentieth ward, for $14,000. The residence is a modern brick house of 12 rooms.

Bessemer Coal Mine Sold.

Through the agency of Blair & Baird the Miller Coal Company has bought from Royle Bros. 200 acres of coal at Hilliard station on the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad for $28,000. The deal was made on a royalty basis, the company paying so much a ton for the coal taken out and buying the mine equipment outright. The latter consists of electric mining machinery and electric haulage. The output of the mine is about 300 tons daily. The coal is a five-foot vein of Clarion coal and the production will be increased by the purchasing company, which is composed chiefly of Butler capitalists.

A conspicuous example of the fact that it pays to build good flats is furnished by Robinson & Bruckman of Brushton, who have just completed 18 flats of five rooms each. Not a "For Rent" has been posted on the buildings, and yet every flat is rented at an average of $37.50 a month. In the 50 or more flat buildings in the Thirty-seventh ward, having accommodations for about 300 tenants, there are not over 10 vacant flats. Good flats, sanitary and convenient, that will rent for from $25 to $30 a month are at a premium in this ward most of the time, as well as in most other localities of the East End and Wilkinsburg.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is taking bids on the passenger station to be erected at Aspinwall to be a part of the new Brilliant cut-off division. The station proper will be a one-story brick building, with stairs leading up to the train shed and the elevated tracks.

A. B. Hay, Jr., who has been located at 610-612 Farmers Bank building, has rented an office at room No. 1117 in the same building.

Building permits issued yesterday by the bureau of building inspection were as follows: R. C. Hall, brick store, Ferry and Diamond streets, First ward, $10,000; Winifred McGinley, five brick veneer dwellings, Wineteddle avenue, Nineteenth ward, $6,775; R. B. Mellon, frame stable and carriage house, 6844 Fifth avenue, Twenty-second ward, $7,000; Henry Fitzpatrick, eight brick dwellings, Perry street, Eleventh ward, $8,800, and four brick dwellings, Fitzpatrick street, Eleventh ward, $3,400; E. J. Roe, 10 brick veneer dwellings, Neville street extension, Thirteenth ward, $14,000.

FRENCH ABBE DEDICATES BOOK TO ROSEVELT

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The Abbe Klein, a prominent clerical writer, whose work on "Americanism" and "Life of Dr. Hecker" created an agitation, has just issued a volume entitled "In the Country of Strenuous Life." It is dedicated to President Roosevelt and describes men, institutions and affairs in the United States. A chapter is devoted to the Abbe's visit to the White House and his interview with President Roosevelt. Owing to the impending reorganization of the French church system the book's exposition of the American church system is attracting widespread attention.

Miners Deport Judge's Son.

DENVER, COL., Nov. 2.—News from Goldfield, Nev., says that E. A. Colburn, Jr., has been deported from that camp by miners and warned never to return. Young Colburn is a son of Judge E. A. Colburn, president of the Cripple Creek Mine Owners' association.

JAMES FLEMING IS NOT GUILTY

Philadelphia Company Attacks the Constitutionality of an Act Relating to Appeals.

ARGUMENT IN BROWN ESTATE

"Not guilty" was the verdict of the jury in the case in which James Fleming, an East End saloonkeeper, was charged with voluntary manslaughter for the death of John McDonald, a horseshoer. The jury returned the verdict at 5 o'clock last night. It retired at 4 o'clock.

Fleming went on the stand in his own behalf and told of his trouble with McDonald. He said he met him by appointment regarding the purchase of the property he was occupying at Frankstown and Penn avenues, of which McDonald was part owner. He said a dispute arose between him and McDonald and the latter struck him in the forehead with a paper weight. He said he was dazed by the blow, but clinched with McDonald. How the latter received the blow on the nose, he said he did not know. He said Attorney Thomas Brown separated them. He said he suffered for a week from the blow he had received. He denied making the assertion that he would get the property by fair means or foul.

J. Kumpe, a former bartender for Fleming, said he met Daniel Scroggins, one of the witnesses for the defense, and that Scroggins appeared to know nothing about the fight. Scroggins testified that he had seen Fleming knocked down.

Several witnesses were called in rebuttal, among them Drs. Wilson and Sterrett. Witnesses for the defense said the death may have been caused by alcoholism or by disease, but this was denied by the physicians.

Philadelphia Company Raises New Point.

The petition of the Philadelphia company to be permitted to appeal from the decision of the board of revision fixing a valuation on their Herrnots Island property, was argued in supreme court. The assessment was $1,019,450, the ground being valued at $1,000,000 and the buildings at the balance. One-third was taken off for suburban valuation, leaving the net assessment at $679,625. The Philadelphia Company thinks $450,000 sufficient. On the ground that an appeal was not taken as prescribed in the act of 1807, common pleas court No. 1 refused to hear the case and the company raises the question of the constitutionality of the question of the act relating to appeals.

The estate of the late J. O. Brown was before the court in two cases. In one Miss Mattie W. McLean appeals because her claims relating to Colonial Trust Company stock were not allowed. In the other Mrs. Ella M. Brown, the executrix, appeals because the claim of Mrs. Beasle Craft for $1,500 was allowed.

The other cases argued were May C. and Lida D. Snyder, appellants, vs. the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, an action over real estate at Glenwood; the Pittsburgh Valve, Foundry and Construction Company vs. S. E. Klingelhofer and others, an action over a contract binding certain persons not to engage in business for 10 years; Dennis O'Leary vs. the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad Company, an action over a lot in the First ward; the appeals of Mary Merritt and Henry Clatty in the estate of Henry Kienke, deceased, an action in a will case.

Nuisance Case is Dropped.

In criminal court a nolle prosse was allowed in the case of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Street Railway Company, which was alleged to have maintained a nuisance. The prosecutors were P. J. Buehrer, George Henderson and Robert Simpson, residents of Versailles borough. The street car company was said to have operated cars along the roads of the borough in such a manner that it was dangerous for vehicles.

Irene Brown was convicted of perjury.

A suit for $20,000 damages was entered against Dr. F. R. McCrew by John Maslon, a miner of Federal, Pa. The plaintiff alleges he was injured in the mines on January 6, 1899, and that the defendant was called and said the injury consisted of two broken ribs. The plaintiff alleges that his hip was also broken, but that the physician paid no attention to this injury, the result of which was the total loss of the use of his right leg.

A statement was filed by John Graham, receiver for the Crum Lynn Iron and Steel Company, in the suit against the Spang-Chalfant Company to recover damages to the extent of $67,886 69 and interest. The statement filed claims the Spang-Chalfant company defaulted in an agreement to purchase 703 tons of skelp.

Clarence Kaufman of McDonald brings a suit for $5,000 damages against the P., C. & St. L. railroad. He alleges to have been put off a train at Oakwood, although he had presented a ticket from McDonald to Pittsburgh. He claims that he was caused to walk to Pittsburgh and was too late to attend to business.

Demurrer is Sustained.

An opinion was handed down by Judge Shafer in which he sustains the demurrer filed in the equity suit of A. W. Duff against Frank M. Cain. The suit was to force the performance of an agreement to pay for some real estate.

R. R. Zimmerman of McKeesport brings a suit for damages against Emanuel Lichtenstein demanding $5,000. The plaintiff alleges that his business was ruined by the scandalous and malicious talk of the defendant and that he was arrested and imprisoned on a charge of obtaining goods to the amount of $1,800 by false pretense.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against C. A. Johnson & Co. of Bradford, Pa. The petitioners are T. C. E. Cumpson of Buffalo, McElvoy Brothers, Bradford Provisos Company and Sibley & Scott, all of Bradford, who present claims amounting to $571 68. The firm against whom the petition is filed is alleged to have admitted its insolvency to the petitioners.

A bill in equity was filed against the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company by Jennie Good, to secure her rights as tenant of the property of Clara Coleman at 28 Second avenue. She alleges the railroad has filed a bond to secure the owner of the property, but has not secured her rights. The court is asked to restrain the company from proceeding until some provision for the damages of the tenant is made.

Executions issued: S. Heesler vs. Marton Nath, $150; W. W. Whitesell vs. Charles G. McClernan, $903.

A petition was presented for a charter for Allegheny Council No. 10, Daughters of America. The object of the association is to assist its members in business and to establish a sick and funeral benefit fund. Attorney W. W. Wyant is the solicitor.

Two Deaths from Hallowe'en Prank.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., Nov. 2.—A tragic sequel to a Hallowe'en shooting occurred here today, when William Copeland, a contractor, took poison and died. Hallowe'en night Mr. Copeland discharged his shotgun at a party of boys who had rattled his fence. Alex Schlups received the charge of shot in his back. Yesterday court proceedings were begun against Mr. Copeland.

Fast World's Fair Trains May Be Kept on Schedules

The passenger officials of the railroads leading into Pittsburgh are arranging the winter schedule. A meeting will be held in Pittsburgh today, at which all traffic officials of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will be present. The time card meetings this fall are more important than usual, due to the fact that many extra trains were arranged at the spring time card meetings on account of the St. Louis fair. The question worrying the traffic officials is whether or not any of these extra trains can be kept in service after the fair closes. The Pennsylvania started the ball rolling by agreeing to keep in commission the Southwest Limited. This led the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie to consider the advisability of keeping a through car in service between here and St. Louis. The Vanderbilt passenger men are meeting in New York, and L. A. Robison, general passenger agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, will make a plea that through service between Pittsburgh and St. Louis would be a paying one, even after the fair gates are closed. The same plea is to be made by E. D. Smith, assistant general passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio. The Baltimore & Ohio, while it is a long-haul road to the fair, has handled more than its share of business, and this gives hopes that extra through service between Pittsburgh and St. Louis would be profitable.

Discussed Traffic Matters.

C. S. Sims, general manager of the Baltimore & Ohio; Arthur Hale, general superintendent of transportation, and W. C. Loree, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh system, held a conference in the Water street station yesterday. They discussed the general condition of the system and paid particular attention to the arrangements for handling the traffic in the Pittsburgh district during the coming winter.

Freight Tonnage Increasing.

Increased tonnage in high class and general freight more than offset the decrease in grain and meat shipments on the railroads running east from Chicago. These roads report that all local industries are running at greater capacity, using more raw material and shipping more products. All the cards say they could use more cars, but that the shortage is not alarming. There is a falling off in grain shipments. Last week the shipments were 1,438,000 bushels and the week previous, 278,000 bushels.

Railroad Notes.

John Morton, formerly assistant baggageman at the Lake Erie, has taken a similar position with the Wabash-Terminal company.

J. C. Bland, engineer of bridges of the Pennsylvania lines, began yesterday his annual inspection of the bridges on the Ft. Wayne system.

James E. Taussig, general superintendent of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, has been granted an indefinite leave of absence. H. W. McMasters will assume the duties of the position during Taussigs' absence.

Officials in the maintenance-of-way department of the Bessemer & Lake Erie, are inspecting the Union railroad. In the party are H. T. Porter, chief engineer, and E. R. Gilbert, master mechanic. There are 50 officials in the party.

Lower Southwest Field Shows Decided Decrease in Production

Developments in the lower southwest fields are declining and the few wells coming in are of little importance to the trade or to those who keep in touch with field operations. There is as much activity in the old districts as present conditions warrant, but the districts that were hottest a few months ago refuse to give up anything but small wells, and in some districts they are not desirable when the cost of drilling is taken into account. This is true in particular of the deep sand territory, and it is in these districts that the heaviest falling off in operations is witnessed. The only two districts of this kind that show an increase in new work is the new 30-foot development west of Marion and the fifth sand district near Fairview, both located in Marion county. In the first named, the Delmar Oil Company's No. 1 on the J. L. and J. Hays farm is still holding up at 250 barrels a day. The South Penn company's Nos. 2 and 3 on the C. S. Pfister farm are producing 150 and 50 barrels a day respectively.

East of Mannington, Marion county, the Freeland Oil Company has drilled its test on the M. C. Q. Wilson farm into the 50-foot sand and has developed a fair gasser.

In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the South Penn company has drilled its No. 13 on the Isaac Hoge farm through the Gordon and the hole stands full of fluid. Owing to a lack of gas pressure the well has not flowed. In the same district the South Penn has drilled its test on the M. J. Robinson farm into the stray sand 38 feet and has developed no oil or gas. South of Mannington, the South Penn company's No. 6 on the B. F. Conway farm has been drilled through the sand and has filled up 1,000 feet with fluid and will be given a shot.

In the Bonds creek district, Ritchie county, the McKelvey Oil Company has completed its No. 2 on the L. F. Wilson farm, and has a flow for a 10-barrel pumper in the Big Injun. In the Elm run district, R. G. Gillespie has completed his No. 16 on the M. D. Cowan farm and will have an eight or 10-barrel pumper in the salt sand. With the completion of this well, operations in this district are at a standstill.

In the Smithfield district, the Philadelphia Company is fishing at 2,850 feet at a test on the M. E. McDougal farm. The same company is fishing at 2,460 feet at its test on the J. O. Kearns farm. In the Richwood run district, Trees and Brast's No. 5 on the Josephus Morris farm is holding up at 150 barrels a day.

In the Volck district, Tyler county, some of the old producers are still holding up very creditably. The Carter Oil Company's Nos. 6 and 9 on the J. W. Ankrom farm are producing 180 and 120 barrels a day, respectively, and Bartlett, Riddle & Browne's No. 5, Delana Ankrom, 140 barrels. The Fisher Oil Company's No. 2, G. W. Mosser, the Centray Oil Company's No. 1, W. B. Bullman, and the Melrose Oil and Gas Company's No. 4, T. H. Bwell, 65, 50 and 90 barrels, respectively.

In the Yellow creek district, Calhoun county, Mallory Brothers & Stewart have drilled their No. 3 on the James W. Rogers farm through the Berea grit and have a show for a 10 or 15-barrel pumper. This location is 400 feet south of the Lowther Oil Company's No. 1 on the S. R. Saunders farm. In the same district, the Eastern Oil Company has drilled its No. 6 on the S. L. Klipstein farm through the Berea grit and the well is producing 75 barrels a day.

In the same district, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 2 on the H. L. Jackson farm to a depth of 2,900 feet, and has failed to find the Gordon sand. It will be pulled out and abandoned.

On the Ohio side in the development northwest of Woodsfield, Monroe county, the Southern Oil Company has completed its second test on the F. P. and R. P. Yoho farm, and have a duster in the Keener sand. In the shallow sand territory north of Marietta, Washington county, the Pure Oil Producing Company has drilled its test on the James Lynch farm through the sand and has a duster.

In the Bristoria field, in Greene county, Pa., the Natural Gas Company of West Virginia has completed a test on the F. P. Headley farm and has a show for a 25-barrel producer.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.
